LEE IS SET FREE BY GRAND JURY

Negro Who Was Held in Connection
With Killing of Joseph Clevenger
Freed Today.

AN IGNORAMUS IS RETURNED

Jurors Feel That There Was Not Enough Evidence Against Lee to Warrant His Conviction.

John Lee, colored, held in connection with the killing of Joe Clevenger was given his freedom this morning by the grand jury when it made the final report on the case. The grand jury returned an ignoramus against Lee and he was brought into court and told by Judge Megee that there was no indictment against him and that he could have his freedom at any time by asking the sheriff.

The action of the grand jury in failing to return an indictment against Lee came as no surprise as it was not believed at any time that there was enough evidence to warrant a conviction and the grand jury was composed of men, who would not put the county at an expense of holding a trial if they did not believe a conviction was possible.

Following the finding of the dead body of Clevenger, near his home with a rifle bullet in his breast a search was made for a strange negro reported to have been at the Clevenger home on the night before the supposed murder. Lee was captured four miles north of the city three days later and has been in jail ever since. The finding of the rifle in a straw stack south of the city caused Lee to change his first story regarding a third party to the crime and then he was charged with murder before Mayor Bebout.

Lee waived preliminary hearing in court as this court has no jurisdiction in a charge of this kind and he was bound over to await the action of the grand jury. The grand jury immediately took up the case and spent two days examining witnesses who might throw some light on the events of the night leading up to the morning on which Clevenger was killed.

When brought before Judge Megee and told of the finding of the grand jury Lee expressed his thanks to the court and the members of the grand jury. He also stated that he wished to thank Prosecutor Smith for the fairness in which the charge against him had been handled. Lee was deeply touched and showed signs of emotion when told that he was at liberty to go. Judge Megee warned Lee to stay away from such places hereafter and he would avoid trouble. Lee was turned over to the sheriff with the instruction that he should be given his liberty when it was desired. Sheriff Cavitt purchased Lee a new pair of shoes and several articles of clothing. Lee expects to leave soon for his home in Covington.

The finding of the grand jury seemed to meet with approval on all sides as it would probably have been impossible to secure a jury that would have convicted Lee. The finding of the grand jury makes the killing of Clevenger accidental. The grand jury took all this into consideration in returning the ignoramus against Lee.

The finding of the grand jury is as follows: We the members of the grand jury have examined all the witnesses we could find that had any knowledge of the circumstances relating to the above charge (murder) against the defendant, John Lee and find that there is not sufficient evidence to warrant the defendant's being held to answer the charge as

RUSSIANS ARE REPULSED

Fair, Austrians Say.

Vienna, Dec. 31.—The war office in its review of the situation today declares efforts of the Russians to force the Carpathian passes have been repulsed. The danger of an attempted invasion of Hungary is said to be remote because strong forces now dominate every inlet through the mountains. The Russians attempted a surprise attack at Uzok Pass but were in turn surprised and were defeated with heavy losses.

ALFRED SENOUR DIES OF INJURIES

Former Rush County Man Expires
Wednesday After Mishap Near His Home Christmas Eve.

WAGON HIT BY INTERURBAN

Alfred Senour, formerly a resident of this county, died at the Deaconess as the result of injuries he received when he was struck by an I. & C. interurban car at the outskirts of Indianapolis Christmas eve. He was fifty-seven years of age and lived at 3313 Prospect street, Indianapolis.

A son of the deceased, Willard Senour, testified before the Marion county coroner in the inquest yesterday. He said that his father was unconscious when he reached his side and that his version of the accident was never obtained. The car struck a wagon on which elder Senour was riding. The accident happened near the Senour home.

F. H. Senour and Miss Irene Wilson, of near Andersonville, brother and sister respectively of the deceased, went to Indianapolis today to attend the funeral.

JUDGE MEGEE'S LAST DAY IN COURT

His Closing Day on Bench is Quiet
One, There Being Nothing Aside
From Grand Jury Report.

CONTINUANCE IS GRANTED

Judge Megee spent his last day on the bench in a quiet manner, there being little business of importance, outside of the report of the grand jury. Judge Blair of the Shelby circuit court was expected here today to hear a motion for a new trial in the case of Albert Greeley against Alonzo T. Hooten, et al., but telephoned that it would be impossible for him to come. The case was a claim and when tried two years ago the jury found for the defendant.

The receivership case of Lindley M. Moore against Paul Cooper was set for this morning but was postponed until next Wednesday morning at nine o'clock. The parties involved reside in Carthage. Cooper asked for a continuance on the grounds that he had not been properly summoned. He alleged that the sheriff of Hancock county left the summons with his father instead of handing it to him personally. Judge Megee granted the continuance.

A. G. Reeve has moved from his farm west of the city to the McWhinney property in East Sixth street.

WATER WAGON IS BEING OILED UP

It is All Primed For Start of Annual Trip Down Rough Highway

RIDING TO BE HARD AS USUAL

Jolts and Bumps Will be Just as Numerous But There Are Some
Prepared to Stick it Out.

Today the water wagon was being greased and oiled preparatory to the annual trip. The same old route will be followed and it is altogether probable that just as many will fall off as in past years. The advance sale of reserved seats is heavy, which indicates the great number of "New Year's resolutions" which are being formulated in the minds of Rushville men and women.

The water wagon always is crowded. But there are many folks who wish they were off when they get on. Falling off is not the easiest thing in the world. Some times the fall hurts. And again, when some folks get on they wish they had favored all of the new ideas in road legislation so that highways would be smoother.

The time for starting never varies. It is always at midnight when the old year goes out and the infant rolls in. There never are any delays. When the church bells begin to ring and the whistles to blow, then it is time for you to climb on. No allowances are made. You have to start on time or not start at all. If Friend Wife gave you a box of cigars for Christmas and you haven't smoked them all up yet, you can't board the wagon under the terms that you will be allowed to smoke them up before you sign the pledge. You will have to give them away.

When the foolish people who sit up until midnight tonight get out in the zero weather and begin to yell at the moon, that's the sign for you to climb on. Then the wagon will start crunching down the ice-covered streets. Once it is started, there is no stopping it. If you want off you will have to fall off and those of you who have been on before know what an experience that is. It is indescribable.

The 1915 model, it is said does not vary from the water wagons of the past. It will have a high rolling back which is hard to stick, and from the top of which to the earth is a long distance. Bruises are sure to result in descent, but everyone who climbs on takes that into account.

Even though the falls are hard ones, the water wagon grows more popular as the years go by. In all of the thousands of years that have passed, it has always been the fashion for a large number to make a grand rush for the wagon at the last moment. This has resulted in the conductor obtaining a more commodious wagon each year. Then, it has always been found that the conductor has to urge those already aboard to move up to the front and make more room for the late arrivals.

Usually, when the wagon gets under way, the inside is crowded and people are hanging on the steps. It is only after the wagon has got well under way that the jolts become noticeable and the riding difficult. Then the falls start. One after another riders topple off. Of course, there are always a few folks to stick on for the whole ride. They always have a larger bank account at the end of the trip and have fewer headaches and cases of indigestion, once they get used to the bumps. And besides, they are so much better prepared for the next trip.

COUNCIL MAKES A GOOD SHOWING

City Saves About $7,000 on Year, as Compared to Same Period of Last Administration.

LAST 1914 MEETING IS HELD

Police Force is Cut Down to Two Men to Reduce Expenses and
Blaine Hunt is Released.

The city council met in special session this afternoon and took up the business of closing up the city's business for the year. All of the city employees were allowed salary in full, including today so that the city would start the new year without any claims outstanding.

The claims against the city totaled between three and four thousand dollars. While a complete financial report of the year's business is not yet ready, it is estimated that the city will show a saving of about $7,000 on the year over the last administration for the same period.

The financial report will be ready in a few days, it is expected. The city administration ended its first year today and a saving of $7,000 over the last year of the Democratic administration is not a bad start. The councilmen are highly elated at the prospects of reducing the city's indebtedness. All of the outstanding claims were allowed this afternoon and other outstanding business was taken up.

Cigars and apples were presented to the council by Mayor Bebout as a Christmas present. The city had enough money in the banks to pay the outstanding debts and the administration starts the new year in better financial shape than a year ago when the present council took office.

As a further retrenchment policy the police committee recommended the cutting down in the present police force and Blaine Hunt, the third man on the police force, was released. The police committee stated that the present force was believed to be too large, when it is taken into consideration that past administrations employed only two policemen, the chief and an assistant. As Hunt was the last man on the force it was recommended that he be released from duty, starting January 1.

Hunt has been on the force just one year and the reason for letting him go is the fact that the city council can save money and believes it can successfully operate the police force with two men as was done in the past. The reduction of the police force will mean a saving to the city of $60 a month, according to the police committee. The question was passed by the unanimous vote of the council. Other business of small importance was to come before the meeting.

SCHOOL TREASURER CHARGED

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 31.—The attorney general has filed with the prosecutor of Huntington county charges that F. S. Chenneour misappropriated $1,051 while acting as treasurer for the school town of Roanoke. It became known today. The charged originated in the office of the state board of accounts.

CARRANZA FORCES WIN.

San Antonio, Texas, Dec. 31.—Official advices from Vera Cruz to the local Constitutionalists consulate this afternoon claimed a great victory by General Herrera and his 15,000 troops over the Villista army of General Teyreya and Garcia at Hipolito.

GERMANS DRIVEN BACK

Russians Claim Enemy is Being Pushed Back at Many Points

(By United Press.)

Petrograd, Dec. 31.—Today's report from the front declares the Germans are being driven back at several points from the Vistula and Rawka rivers following a series of attacks in which both sides lost heavily. The advantage, it is stated, is with the Russians although along most of the battlefield the fighting is an artillery duel.

The Galician operations are progressing, the Austrians being compelled to retire still farther in the Carpathian passes.

DRIVEN TO STREET IN NIGHTCLOTHES

People Undergo Great Hardships and Several Firemen Are Hurt in Chicago Fire Today

GROCERY HOUSE GUTTED

(By United Press.)

Chicago, Dec. 31.—A dozen families were driven to the streets in their nightclothes, several firemen were injured and $100,000 damage done by a fire which gutted and destroyed early today the three-story brick building occupied by Frank Weber & Company, wholesale grocers.

A stiff wind off Lake Michigan and a temperature of four degrees above zero froze most of the water as it struck the burning structure. Those driven to the streets from the adjoining buildings suffered intensely with the cold. Several were drenched with water, their clothes freezing to their body.

WILSON'S SPEECH WILL BE A KEYNOTE

Definitely Decided Today There Will
be Only One Address at Jackson
Day Celebration.

NO BANQUET WILL BE HELD

(By United Press.)

Washington, Dec. 31.—President Wilson today definitely decided to make a trip to Indianapolis to speak at a Jackson day Democratic celebration there January 8 under the auspices of the Indiana Democratic club.

The president wishes to have a word with the entire country and his trip to Indianapolis will be for that purpose. It is understood his Indianapolis speech will be a keynote.

There was speculation whether he would mention the Terre Haute probe and District Attorney Frank C. Dailey. The speech in general will not be for local application, it is said.

It was definitely decided today there will be no banquet which means that only one speech will be made. The president will leave at 7:15 Thursday evening arriving at Indianapolis at 1:35 Friday afternoon. He will travel in a special car attached to a regular Pennsylvania train.

Elder C. W. Radeliff of Connerville will preach at the Primitive Baptist church Friday night. Elder W. O. Parker of Alexandria will preach Monday and Tuesday night, January fourth and fifth.

MAY YET HAVE TO FACE TRIAL

Possible Thirteen Indicted in Connection With Legislative Probe
May be Tried Again.

NEW PROSECUTOR IN OFFICE

If Another Trial is Held, There Will
be no "Agreed Statement of Facts" it is Assured.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Dec. 31.—The thirteen members and employees of the 1913 state legislature, including Lieutenant Governor William P. O'Neill and Secretary of State Homer L. Cook, who were acquitted by Judge Markey in criminal court here on an agreed statement of facts, may yet have to face trial where evidence will be introduced, if a statement made to the United Press today by Alvah J. Rucker, prosecutor-elect, is significant. Rucker takes office tonight at midnight, succeeding prosecutor Frank P. Baker, who agreed with attorneys for the defendants on the facts in the case and who prosecuted the cases unassisted.

Rucker was asked by the United Press whether he considered the indictments against the thirteen legislators as a closed incident.

"I can hardly say," said Rucker. "I am studying the law in the case right now, but am not ready to make a decision."

He was asked whether it was not true that these defendants, having stood trial and been acquitted, were exempt from prosecution of the grounds of jeopardy.

"I do not think so," said Rucker. "They were tried on only one or two of hundreds of similar deeds, and I believe they could be brought to trial on other violations of the criminal statutes."

Rucker then added: "The office of the prosecutor will be conducted fairly and squarely. Everybody will get a square deal—and every prosecution will be pushed to the limit."

The office of the prosecutor of Marion county is considered of more importance by the state following the trial of the legislators. With the retirement of Frank Baker and Judge Joseph T. Markey tonight, pass two officials who have much in the state mind. Their terms have been signalized by such sensational events as the murder of Helen Knabe and the legislature probe. They will be succeeded by Judge James A. Collins and Mr. Rucker.

Baker said today that as a whole he was satisfied with the achievements of his office during his term.

The Best Guarantee You Can Get

with any article is the Unwritten Guarantee. The guarantee that years of satisfactory service has made. If you want a flowery guarantee written with gilded ink on fine bond paper, buy a fraud. It is necessary for the fraud to guarantee you a lot of richly painted stuff in order to get your business. Do you want a guarantee with a Stetson Hat, A Singer Sewing Machine or a Packard Automobile? No, you don't. Why? Because you know these articles are right and always have been, and if you were to buy one of these articles that was wrong it would be made right without any argument. Nice satisfactory way to do business ain't it. Do you know of any one with one of our buggies that is not satisfied, that thinks he got a dirty deal, that thinks he paid for something he didn't get, or thinks we are rough to do business with? If you know a man of this kind we want to see him because every buggy we sell has to be satisfactory. That is why your neighbors buy their buggies from us. They know—they have had the experience and realize the fact that buying their buggies of us means satisfaction. NEGOTIATIONS STARTED TODAY

London, Dec. 31.—Direct negotiations in connection with the United States protest against Britain exercising the right of search on the high sea began today. This afternoon Ambassador Page called at the foreign office by appointment. For a long time he was closeted with Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister. It is understood that Page explained the position of the United States and emphasized the protests was made in the most friendly spirit with the hope of clearing up conditions that if ignored might result seriously.

No statement was made regarding the meeting other than the formal one that the negotiations had begun and that they probably would continue for some time.

A FLAT CONTRADICTION

Germans Deny French Claims of Success Today Are True.

Berlin, (By Wireless to London,) Dec. 31.—(Flat contradiction of the French claims of successes came from the war office today. It is declared in the official statement that the French attacks north of Chalons have been repulsed with heavy losses and that at no point along the battlefront have there been any gains by the allies.

According to the statement, the allies are shelling the Westende again and have succeeded in destroying many of the houses and public buildings. The fire however had not caused any military losses, according to the war office.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.

GIRLS DO THIS for your Rough and Smarting Face. Steam your face well, rinse with cold water, dry with soft towel and apply Labeled with soft damp sponge. First application will make your skin fresher and clearer. Make it a daily habit and notice decided improvement.

Amusements

The Gem will show a two reel feature "Love and Surgery" for the first picture tonight. It is said to be a great comedy and Billy Richey and Gertrude Selby are featured. The situations are said to be very funny. The other is a drama entitled "The Quarrel." It is an Eclair drama and featured Stanley Walpole and Mildred Bright. Tomorrow night the two reel feature "The Lass O' Killikrankie" will be shown.

The Princess offers "The Girl and the Stowaway" a two reel feature in addition to the tuberculosis picture and lecture by Dr. L. C. Kigin, formerly of this city. Alice Joyce and Tom Moore are featured in the drama. The lecture of Dr. Kigin is given along with the motion picture. The picture was taken under his supervision and is said to be very interesting. Tomorrow matinee and night the big feature in five reels, "The House Next Door" will be shown. This is a Lubin feature and is a story of religion. It shows many thrilling scenes and is from the successful play of the same name.

The Mystic will show a two reel Lubin "Her Mother Was a Lady" for the first picture tonight. It is said to be a sensational drama and features an all-star cast. The other is a Selig comedy entitled "The Rajah's Vacation." Both are said to be exceptionally good pictures. Large crowds attended the Evelyn Nesbitt Thaw picture yesterday and the attraction proved all that had been said for it.

Fritzi Scheff in a comedy with music, "Pretty Mrs. Smith" will come to the Murat, New Years Eve, New Years Day and Saturday fresh from her triumph at the Casino Theatre, New York. This announcement will interest admirers of this magnetic opera star who has appeared in half a dozen big successes. Associated with Miss Scheff will be Charlotte Greenwood of "Man With Three Wives," and Winter Garden fame, and Sydney Grant, late of the "Tik-tok Man of Oz" which had a long run in New York and Chicago, and George Anderson.

Oliver Morosco, Author of a number of successes, wrote the play assisted by Elmer Harris and Henry James and Earl Carroll are responsible for the music and lyrics. The work was originally brought out in Los Angeles last season, Mr. Morosco having many interests in the vicinity of the coast. Since that time it has been rewritten in part and many beauties have been added so that now it is said to be smooth and attractive.

The story has to do with a fascinating society woman who has gone to Palm Beach to seek rest and seclusion after separating from her husband. The latter happens to be her third partner in the matrimonial game. The others, it appears, are believed to be dead, but they return to alarm "Pretty Mrs. Smith." The third husband chances in, and with the three the heroine has a merry time. The situation is ridiculous, but so pleasantly handled that there is merriment for the friends and joy for the charming Mrs. Smith. The music is said to throw pleasant lights on the whole and fills a long felt want in the loose-jointed efforts that frequently pass for musical entertainment.

The county commissioners were in session this afternoon settling up the business for the year. The only thing taken up was the matter of allowing claims, which have been hanging fire for some time. The commissioners meet again Monday when, the new member, P. A. Newhouse takes office. The meeting today was held according to law as the commissioners are compelled to allow claims the last of the year.

New Year's Day Will be Celebrated in Usual Way—New County Officials Will Take Office

New Year's day will be generally observed here although very few if any of the stores will be closed. The banks will be closed all day and the postoffice will be closed after ten o'clock in the morning. The city mail carriers will make one delivery in the morning but the rural carriers will not make any delivery at all.

The day will be marked by the entrance into their offices of a number of county officials elected November 3 and the retirement of the old officers. The change of officers in the court house is generally quite an occasion because the in-comers generally have a plentiful supply of apples and cigars on hands.

A number of watch parties are scheduled for tonight and many will see the old year out and the new year in. The new year is always announced here by the ringing of church bells.

FRENCH CAPTURE A SMALL VILLAGE

Of Great Strategical Importance Because it Opens Road Leading To Altkirch.

Paris, Dec. 31.—The French have captured the village of Steinbach in upper Alsace following one of the hardest fought engagements of the war to date on the eastern front. They had literally to battle their way from house to house, meeting a raking machine gun fire from the rapid-firers, the Germans had posted on roofs and in windows.

The losses on both sides were very large. Occupation of this position is declared officially to be of the utmost strategic importance, opening as it does the way to the road that runs to Altkirch and Mulhausen.

Carranza Forces Slip Out of Monterey, Which is Now Occupied by General Villa.

Washington, Dec. 31.—Carranza's forces evacuated Monterey, the largest city in their possession, on December 29 and General Villa with a large force is now occupying it, according to official dispatches to the state department this afternoon. They also stated that the railway between Tampico and Monterey had been cut and that trains had been fired on.

General Villa is now expected to march upon Tampico and to clear the northern border of the small Carranzista forces in that section.

Disruption in Provisional President Gutierrez's cabinet was also reported today in an official dispatch from Mexico City. The minister of public instruction has resigned.

1916 Will End It.

Governor Colquitt of Texas is convinced that 1916 will see the end of the Democratic regime in the nation.
He says so in plain language over
his own signature to an article
which appeared in the Cincinnati
Enquirer. He is one of those disgusted Democrats who has some
right to expect something of the Wilson administration. One of his claims for being heard is the fact that he raised $10,000 for the Wilson
campaign fund.

Colquitt's specifications of failures
culled from a long statement just
issued over his signature:

"The Wilson administration has been the greatest failure in the history of the presidency."

"The administration's tariff law
was pledged to lower the cost of living and it has had the contrary effect."

"The administration's foreign policy has been imbecile."

"The administration's repeal of
the Panama canal tolls exemption
law in violation of the party's national platform was another weak

"The Wilson-Bryan management
of the Mexican affair has been an egregious failure. They landed an American army in Vera Cruz to force
Huerta to salute the flag and have brought it back without getting the salute. They now ask congress to appropriate over $500,000 to pay the expenses of that ridiculous expedition."

"Wilson and Bryan have stood by
encouraging one gang of bandits
after another while people were being butchered all over Mexico, while
the vast American interests in that country were being confiscated and
shot to pieces, and today the Mexican chaos is worse than at any time
since Madero was assassinated."

"The administration's anti-trust
laws are bare-faced fakes so far as
protecting the people from trust oppression is concerned. These laws
please nobody so well as the Standard Oil, the steel and other great
trusts."

"I believed at first that the federal reserve banking act was the administration's one meritorious achievement, but now bankers tell me it is going to prove a failure. The control of the commission in practice
appears to rest in New York City instead of Washington."

Governor Colquitt having given
these and other specifications of the failure of the Democratic administration, says: "I am fully convinced the national election of 1916 will end the Democratic regime. The policies of the Democratic national administration have wholly failed
either to curb monopolies or lower
the cost of living for the people and they have materially contributed to deprive millions of wage earners of
employment."

POLITICAL COMMENT OF INDIANA PAPERS

(Rochester Republican)

It beats the dickens that every
time the Democratic party gets into
power we not only suffer a business

slump, loss of revenue and cessation
of labor, but we also have to dig
down deeper in our pockets to meet
expenses, pay warless war taxes and
higher fees to keep the army of job
holders in office.

(Steuben Republican)

Had you noticed what would have happened if 1914 had been a presidential year? Take the figures of the last election as they stand and
the electoral college would have
shown 324 votes for the Republican party and 293 for the Democratic party.

(Danville Republican)

If the Democratic party could be
tried today at the ballot box on "an
agreed statement of facts" the verdict of the people would be very different from that of the Marion county judge who tried the Democratic
solons.

(Wabash Plain Dealer)

"Coming events cast their shadows
before." The shadows which portend the complete triumph of the Republican party in Indiana and the nation in 1916 are multiplying with
such startling rapidity that by the time the next election day arrives the
opposition will have melted away so
completely as to leave no vestige of itself remaining. In the meantime
the people will have to endure the
present ills with what fortitude they
are able to command, resting as comfortably as possible under the assurance of a welcome change within two years.

(Seymour Republican)

The trouble with Democratic politics in Indiana is that they are under the complete domination of the machine. So long as this condition
exists the people will suffer and there appears to be no relief. In the face
of the record of the 1913 legislature
the machine with its many lieutenants is already getting control of
the state law making body that will
convene the first of next year. While openly promises have been made that
economy will be practiced, the public
can see that the same crowd is in control. Promises were made prior to the 1913 legislative session, but
the pledges were completely forgotten when the work was started. The machine is too strongly entrenched to
be overthrown by the Democratic party itself for some time to come.
Leaders may openly oppose the tactics of the combination and assert
they are fighting it, but they will not
go far until they must become a link
in the machine's chain.

Don't Burn Up Your Vitality

It has been said with startling
illumination that, "when conception
takes place the gate of gifts is closed."
All the vitality we have is born
with us. We cannot by taking
thought add one cubit to our stature,
nor can we by taking thought add
one straw's weight to our vitality.
We may only cultivate that which
heredity has given us, or we may
burn it in a flame, as a famous
matyr is reported to have done.

Vitality is the ability to live. Some
babies die shortly after birth because of lack of vitality. They simply have not sufficient life force
to live. The heart stops because there is not enough life impulse to
make it go.

The life insurance companies ask
an applicant for insurance the ages
of his father or mother if living and
if dead their ages at death. The
answer will tell whether or not the
man, with proper care, will live long.

If born with weak vitality, one
may make the most of it by living
physiologically, that is, by living rationally. Irrational living, will of course, burn up the strongest vitality.
We (mankind) are only fifty per cent
efficient, because we burn up vitality
in all manner of foolish ways. Alcohol, a fearful drug, is used by millions of gallons to burn up human vitality. It is safe to say that this drug alone cuts down man's

efficiency fully twenty-five percent

Our average duration of life is not to exceed forty-two years. By all the laws of nature it should be at least one-hundred years. It is Metchnikoff who says "Scarcely
any one dies a natural death; we
commit suicide." As said, we burn
up our vitality with alcohol, and thus
reduce efficiency and duration of life.
Besides taking this awful drug to the extent of $1,000,000,000 annually
we spend $500,000,000 more for
other drugs, all of them poisons.

Not content with foolishly assaulting our bodies with these tons on
tons of poisons, we proceed to gorge
and indulge our sense of taste in
such a way as to cause the body itself to make other poisons (toxins)
which burn up vitality. The riotous
eating of flesh results in the production of poisons in the intestines.
These poisons bring ills unnumbered
and unnamed. Are your arteries becoming hard? Is arterio-sclerosis
appearing in your body? Do you have bilious attacks? Do you have rheumatism? Do you have headaches? Did your hair begin to fall
out at forty? Do you suffer from dizziness? Do you have clammy
hands and feet? Do you get tired
in the morning after eight hours in bed? Is anything wrong with your heart, your liver or your kidneys?
If you answer yes to any of these
then you are burning up your vitality and you are a fool to do it.

rational life. High living, rich living
is fool living.

DR J. N. HURTY.

PENSION SYSTEM AGAIN PROPOSED

Rushville School Teachers Are Interested in a Bill Which May

COMMITTEES DISCUSS PLAN

Cities of 20,000 or More Inhabitants

May Have a Fund Now-State-Wide Plan Suggested.

Teachers in the local public
schools are much interested in the
proposed bill which may come before
the next Indiana legislature, and
which provides for the establishment
of a teacher's pension fund. The question has been before previous
sessions of the legislature and teachers in cities of more than twenty
thousand inhabitants are now entitled to establish the pension system they so desire. The question of a state-wide pension fund will come
before the legislature committees of
the county superintendents, city superintendents and Teachers' Association.

Among the profession in this city
there seems to be a divided opinion
as to the advisability of creating a pension fund but the majority of the
teachers would not raise serious objection if the plan is approved by the coming legislature. The fund, it is said, would be maintained by the
tax-payers and the teachers, the latter given a certain percent of their salaries each year to the fund.

During the last few months many
requests from various parts of Indiana have come for the establishment
of a state-wide pension system for teachers. Those who advocate the
plan suggest that instructors in
small towns and in the rural schools
be included as well as those in the larger cities.

The Indianapolis Federation of School Teachers, that has had a pension fund since 1907, does not want to be included in the state-wide
pension bill if it is presented, but
prefers to remain independent. John A.
Lapp, director of the State Bureau
of Legislative Information, asserts
that, in his opinion, there would be

and the city teachers about this, as
the state teachers would not insist
that cities already provided with satisfactory pension funds be included.

The pension question is also agitating the ranks of the Indianapolis
Federation of School Teachers. Miss
Belle O'Hair, who is president of the federation and also secretary of the
pension board, says that, so far as
she knows, nothing definite had been accomplished by the committee appointed for that purpose.

The troubles of the federation
have to do with its pension law,
passed in 1907. At the last session
of the Legislature the question of
whether teachers who had resigned
before the law went into effect but
who were eligible from the point of
years of service might share in the
fund was quite bitterly contested.
Mr. Lapp says that between nine and forty teachers are seeking pensions
under the law after they resigned.

The Indianapolis federation fought
this bill because, it said, it would deplete its fund. The fund has now a surplus of $107,000. Of this $9,000
a year is from the teachers and $23,000 from the city. The maximum
pension is for $600 a year, if a teacher has served forty years; the
minimum is $275, for twenty-five years of service. The city teachers
are greatly opposed to the adding of
any one to their pension fund, taking
as their stand that if the city wants
to pension the "ineligible" teachers it
should provide the money for the purpose.

Two New Boxing Champs Came to Front—Quimet Retains Golf

BY HAL SHERIDAN

New York, Dec. 31.—"The year of the Great Upset" is the epitaph upon the athletic year of 1914. Baseball, pugilism, golf, rowing, polo and tennis furnished new candidates for the public favor and the downfall of champions who were supposed to be entrenched in their positions. Football presented many surprises although Harvard was able to repeat in the premier place.

With the Braves' great dash for the National League championship and the even more thrilling grabbing of the World's championship in four straight games the world is reasonably familiar. To analyze that double feat—walloping the haughty Giants and the peerless Athletics twice in the same year—is something which would be vain and profitless. Manager Stallings tried vainly to explain in his vaudeville engagement how his cohorts won. Perhaps the only explanation that can be made is that Stallings inspired his men to have confidence in themselves and the whole matter may be summed up in that little incident when he cancelled the Braves' hotel reservations at Philadelphia after the first two games and said that his team would not return to the city for his team would win the next two games at Boston, making a return trip unnecessary.

In football Harvard won again largely through the splendid coaching of Percy Haughton and such excellent players as Mahan Bradlee, Hardwick, Pennock and Logan. Whether it was Haughton or whether it was the material at his command which brought impressive triumph will always be a mooted question. The effect of Brickley's absence must be considered in such a debate. Yale under the tutelage of Hinkley was a factor until the crushing defeat in the Bowl. Princeton with wonderful material was a disappointment. The surprise, however, came in the excellent showing made by Cornell and the Army and the still more remarkable games played by Washington and Jefferson, Pittsburgh, Williams and Rutgers.

Two new boxing champions came to the front in Kid Williams of Baltimore, bantamweight, and Freddie Welsh, of England, lightweight. Williams knocked out Johnny Coulon in the third round at Los Angeles on

WILL HAVE TO BORROW AGAIN

State, After Advance Call on County
Treasurers Right After Election,
Will Soon be Short.

TEMPORARY LOANS ARE PAID

But More Money Will be Needed in February Despite Million Raised
in Advance on Call.

Although the state of Indiana made an advance on county treasurers, November 5, two days after the last election, and obtained a cool million thereby, it is altogether probable that the state will soon have to begin borrowing money again to tide it over until some more funds can be raised.

It has just become known that state officials made an advance call on the county treasurers two days after the election. This sum enabled the state to pay off debts due at that time as well as temporary loans amounting to $685,000, loaned by Greencastle, Indianapolis and Tipton banks, which fell due today and had to be paid under the law.

Besides this the state officials authorized the payment—from the state debt sinking fund—of $130,000 in foreign debt bonds that wipes the slate clean of Indiana's foreign debt. This amount also was due on the last day of December and had to be paid. The total interest the state paid on its temporary loans—made from time to time since September 30, the close of the state's fiscal year, to overcome the treasury deficits that arose from month to month in the general fund—was $12,054.43 and the interest paid when the foreign debt was discharged.

June 9 and Welsh grabbed his claim to fame by outpointing Willie Ritchie in London on July 7. For those fans who crowd the fight clubs expecting to see a championship change hands, it may be well to point out that neither of these two fights was worth a lead quarter or a shilling to see. The remaining divisions of the pugilistic world have the same champions as they had years ago. Johnny Kilbane is still featherweight champion. Jack Johnson, heavyweight, leader, the other, with the above exceptions, classes are in doubt. The most interesting bid for leadership is in the middleweight class where four excellent fighters are neck and neck for the honors: Mike Gibbons, McGoorty, Clabby and Dillon.

Boston claims its third champion in golfer Ouimet who trimmed the veteran Jerry Travers after he himself had been beaten by Walter Hagen a professional, for the open championship. Just what the distinction is between amateur and professional gold would be difficult to state but if a golfer may have amateur status young Ouimet is without doubt the leader of that class.

Maurice McLoughlin, for the third consecutive year, takes first as the best of American tennis players. Some question arose as to whether or not a time-honored precedent should be set aside in order to give McLoughlin front rank, inasmuch as he had been defeated by Richard Norris Williams 2d in the final round of the national championship tournament. But precedent never stood a ghost of a chance with good old common sense and the ranking committee put the red-haired Californian in the premier position. Williams was placed second and Karl Behr third.

Columbia won the Poukeepsie regatta, defeating the Cornell crew to everyone's surprise. Harvard's second eight went to England and defeated the best that England could send against them for the grand challenge cup at Henley. Yale beat Harvard by a foot at New London which was a distinct blow at the grand old dope.

The state treasury will have left in it enough money to run the state perhaps, to the last of the month of February unless the bill for the state's part of the fight against the foot and mouth disease in Indiana is payable by that time. Then there must be immediate borrowing. That is not probable, however. But it is probable that temporary loans of at least a quarter of a million will be needed before June. It is expected that the foot and mouth disease bill for Indiana will approximate $350,000, as state veterinarians have said that the disease fight in Indiana will total in cost approximately three-quarters of a million dollars, and Indiana will pay half of that if the legislature keeps the promise of Governor Ralston to use all his influence in refunding to the federal government one-half the cost of the fight against the disease.

This big bill for the foot and mouth disease fight and the expenses of the Indiana general assembly, which are being estimated at not to exceed $130,000 (though they ran thousands of dollars in excess of that two years ago) probably must be paid by temporary loans to the state. By the June settlement period state officials believe they will have the finance muddle solved to such an extent that Indiana will be among the leading states of the nation, so far as debt and bank balances on the right side of the ledger goes.

The payment of the $130,000 of foreign debt to be made tomorrow will be out of the state debt sinking fund, which will have some balance left therein. The remainder, $685,000 and interest, will be paid out of the general and benevolent institution funds. The total interest on the $815,000 to be paid off tomorrow will be $13,191.93.

The balances left in the state treasury and the incoming fees from departments, including a $300,000 fee recently paid in for a railroad merger, will fall slightly short of taking care of the expenses of the state government during January and February, it is estimated. In all probability a loan will have to be made late in February, particularly if specific appropriations from the legislature should be made to take effect immediately on the passing of the appropriations bill.

In March a call on the county treasurer for advance payments is contemplated, and that should run the state through the month without further loans. The April monthly settlements from the county treasurers ought to take care of that month barring legislative appropriations for specific purposes that may be payable in that month. What will happen as regards the foot and mouth disease expense and the expenses of the legislature, however, keeps problematical the estimates of what money it will be necessary for the state to borrow before its June settlement.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a glass of Salts to flush Kidneys if Bladder bothers you—Drink lots of water.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus ending serious kidney disease.

Some Sentiments About Charity that Takes Pension of a Mother

BY JUDGE HENRY NEIL.

Fathers of Mothers' Pension.

Mrs. Gardar had the vote at last. The whole state appeared to be rejoicing because Illinois had given women the right to vote and Mrs. Gardar born and educated in Chicago, was among those raised to Citizenship by an act of the legislature passed in the last few days of a frenzied session.

Besides the vote, Mrs. Gardar was in the possession of four small children and a husband. The husband was some of the time in the asylum. He was a magnificent man so far as physical parts go, but he was possessed of the opinion that he was heir to the throne of the German empire. He had written a book about it and had all the evidence to prove to any reasonable person that Mrs. Gardar and the children should be living in a Berlin palace.

Being heir to the throne and being called by his duty to the German people, he of course had no time to work for a living. Mrs. Gardar like some others thought he was a bit crazy and the officers often locked him up.

The children and their mother were always in poverty. They were the alleged beneficiaries of professional charity. Many good jobs of scrubbing and washing dishes in cheap restaurants were obtained for Mrs. Gardar by the thoughtful charity people. One charity lady even had Mrs. Gardar work in her basement, leaving the little Gardars to run at large.

Often Mrs. Gardar was late at the charity lady's house and the kind charity lady lectured her on promptness and threatened to have the children removed to an asylum, if their mother was not more punctual.

Things were going from bad to worse and Mrs. Gardar was down sick abed. The charity ladies had decided to take the children away from her to "relieve the mother of her burden."

But before this deed of kindness (one in which the charity ladies were expert) was done, something strange happened. Illinois adopted a law which provided that money, formerly paid asylums to keep children taken from their mothers on account of poverty, might thereafter be paid to the mother, so that she might keep up a home and work in her own rooms and wash in her own basement for her own children.

Mrs. Gardar knew nothing of this law, and the charity ladies said nothing to her about it. They were "made on the mothers' pensions law" as the new act was called. But a neighbor who heard of the new arrangement, told Mrs. Gardar about it and in time she was given a pension of $30 a month with instructions to take care of her own children. She was told that she was under no obligations to any person, nor to any society for the pension and that it was no more a kindness to her than the public school was a kindness.

For the first time since her first child was born, Mrs. Gardar had a feeling of security. She was sure of some income, even if her back did ache and she was so tired she thought she would drop.

For several months she drew the pension and then the kind charity lady, whose clothes she had washed, came and told her the pension was to be stopped.

After the first pension law was adopted, making it possible for all mothers (regardless of the fathers' nationality life or death, folly or wisdom) to be lifted out of poverty, the charity people had expressed indignation. Moreover they worked a day and night to have the law changed. The result was that in Illinois the law was amended at the request of the charity ladies. The amendment said that the husband or father must be dead or incapacitated, if he deserted, the mother and children could not get the pension. If he had not been a citizen, then the mother and children were to be denied the benefits of the pension law.

Of course when the amendment of the kind charity people went into effect, the investigators found that Mr. Gardar in the asylum, claimed to be heir to the throne of Germany. Therefore he was not a citizen and under the new dispensation, Mrs. Gardar was again reduced to poverty and is again washing in the basement of the charity lady's suburban name.

Mrs. Gardar was given the vote by the same legislature that reduced her to poverty and now she may be useful in the campaign to have the pension law restored to its first efficiency. Mrs. Gardar was not the only mother lifted out of poverty by the first mothers' pension law and reduced to penury and misery again by the charity people's amendment. At one stroke 500 children were removed from the pension rolls of Cook County, Illinois and restored to poverty, and the charity ladies are planning to put the children away and relieve mothers of their greatest joy, the championship of their own children.

ATTORNEYS ATTACK LAW

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 31.—At midnight the bartenders in every saloon in Arizona will set out the bottles and refill the glasses for the last time for with the coming of 1915 Arizona, the heart of the once "Wild and Woolly West" will become "dry."

A constitutional amendment, endorsed by the voters of the state, 40 percent, of whom are women, was the instrument by which the change was effected. A comfortable majority was established at the November election by the prohibition forces in spite of the efforts of the liquor interests. The amendment is self-operative, and carries heavy penalties for violation. Anti-prohibition interests already have launched a fight against the law. Several of the ablest attorneys of the state, including former Attorney General George P. Bullard, have been retained to test its constitutionality before the state supreme court.

CURED OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Ohio Man's Case Shows How Terrible Malady Can Be Conquered.

"Dear Sufferer: Last summer I was attacked with kidney trouble. Incessant backache was the first symptom. Whenever I stooped to tie my shoes, I felt a dizzy, swimming sensation in my head. It was almost impossible for me to straighten up because of my stiff back. My hands were puffed and covered with little brownish-yellow spots. The kidneys were highly congested and off in action. I heard of Lloyd's kidney and rheumatism tablets as the new and scientific treatment, so tried it. It proved a wonder. The backache and yellow spots have entirely disappeared and I now feel better in every way.

I advise you, sufferers from backache, tired feeling, restlessness, nightly arising, any kidney or bladder ail or rheumatism, to get from your druggist today a few Lloyd's, the kind that cured me. Don't injure your kidneys by using salts or powerful drugs.

Couple of Members of Congress Favor Some from Corn Cob Pipes

BY BURTON K. STANDISH

Washington, Dec. 30.—Speaker Champ Clark of the House of Representatives believed in the slogan, "Made in Missouri". Furthermore, he does a lot of quiet advertising for his home state.

"Missouri meerschaums" constitute his advertising medium. These pipes of corn cob made in Champ's district at Washington, Mo., are distributed among his friends in the capital as souvenirs. Some of them go home to solace tired nervous legislator friends of the speaker. One is the plaything of a prominent Washington newspaper correspondents baby. The proud father says they're great for teething children. Later, he thinks, they'll be fine for blowing soap bubbles.

Thus this staunch resident of Missouri spreads joy in his path.

And while we're on the subject of corncobs, it is well that we should consider it more extensively in its relation to the fate of the nation.

Two of the House members consider it the only kind of pipe to smoke. They are "Judge" Rucker of Missouri, and "Judge" Witherspoon of Mississippi. Rucker smokes his incessantly in his office, but Witherspoon takes his with him when he goes to the House or to a committee hearing.

When Witherspoon gets into action on his favorite subject, "the little navy," he must have his well-seasoned old Missouri meerschaum in full blast. One day recently he sat in the naval affairs committee room while Admiral Fletcher testified.

"Bet Fletcher thinks he's on the bridge of a ship with a horrible battle raging," commented one member of the committee, as clouds of smoke rolled out of Witherspoon's faithful pipe in the direction of the commander of the Atlantic fleet.

Much has been written on the evanescent quality of fame. But nowhere it is rudely and forcibly brought to mind than in adingy bookstore a block away from the capitol. There huge volumes of "Bill" Sulzer's speech in congress and are placarded.

Sweet chocolate is highly in favor with a considerable group of members of congress. In the cloakrooms, the attendant has established a big supply of this confection, along with packs of chewing gum, for the refreshment of solons, who do not desire to take time for a regular meal in the restaurant below the House floor.

Every noon, a group of dignified representatives may be seen munching on the chocolate like a lot of schoolgirls, and apparently enjoying it just as much.

Then, too, the "quick lunch" section of the cloakroom has established a menu of sandwiches and salads that may be obtained at reasonable prices to stall off famine while a fight is demanding the attention of busy legislators on the floor.

"The hard hand of trade" is being laid upon the faith of the Society of Friends or Quakers. At least, they so claim in a flood of letters that are coming to legislators, the patent committee and the judiciary committee. The Friends ask specifically that soon law be framed to prevent manufacturers of oatmeal, whiskey and other food products using the title of Quaker in their advertising matter.

The Friends insist that such use trades on the reputation for honesty established by their society through years of quiet, square dealing.

They are as near war, as their religion allows them to be. They insist that congress must do something to lift what they call the "hard hand of trade" from their humble faith.

The society is likely to have ardent support from Rep. Palmer and Rep. Butler, both of Pennsylvania Quakers. The House now has a delegation of a half dozen of these advocate of peace.

Strangely enough, Butler, though deploring wars and the things of war is one of the leading members of the minority side of the House naval affairs committee.

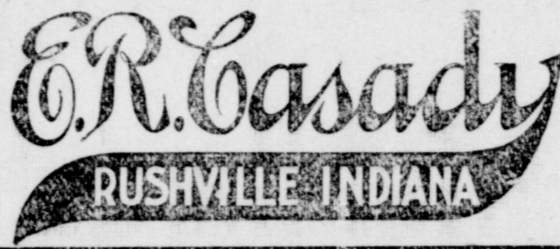

"But I care a whole lot more about the men that man our battleships than I do about the ships themselves," he confided to me one day. And it's not surprising for Butler has a son, Smedley Butler who has distinguished himself a number of landing engagements of the marine corps—the last time at Vera Cruz. And though a man of peace Butler is the proudest father over his boy's achievements.

WHITMAN TAKES OATH TOMORROW

INAUGURAL CEREMONIES

Formal Reception is on Program and Other Recently Elected Officers Will Take Office

(By United Press.) Albany, N. Y., Dec. 31.—Charles Seymour Whitman will tomorrow noon be inaugurated as Republican governor of New York state. He will take the oath of office here in the office of the secretary of state. Chief Justice Willard Bartlett of the Court of Appeals will be the administering official. Governor-elect Whitman will succeed Governor Martin H. Glynn, Democrat. He defeated Gov. Glynn at the November elections.

Following the oath-taking exercises, the inaugural ceremonies proper will be held in the assembly chamber of the capitol. In the legislative hall before a great company of guests, official, military and personal, the new chief executive will deliver his address. In the late afternoon and evening the newly elected executive and Mrs. Whitman will hold a public reception in the executive mansion. They will be assisted in the receiving by the remaining recently chosen state officers and their wives.

Governor-elect Whitman will proceed to the capitol for his inauguration under military escort. He will leave his official residence shortly before noon, bringing up a procession in which his military staff and several state militia companies will take part. General James W. Lester will be the grand marshal of the inaugural parade which promises to be simple but impressive.

The other recently elected state officers will formally take their posts tomorrow. These include: Edward Schoenck, lieutenant-governor; Francis M. Hugo, secretary of state; Eugene M. Travis comptroller; James L. Wells, treasurer; Egbert E. Woodbury, attorney-general; Frank M. Williams, state engineer and surveyor. All are Republicans.

Both the executive mansion and the executive offices here are today fully prepared for tomorrow's formal reception of Charles W. Whitman, governor-elect. Gov. Glynn is quite ready to desert officially both places, making way for his successor. Governor and Mrs. Glynn have already opened their town house here in the attractive Washington park neighborhood.

The outgoing governor will resume his editorial activities on his local newspaper. He will first, it is probable, take several weeks' rest. As chief executive he took no real vacations.

CONGRESS PUT IN BUSY YEAR

One of Busiest Legislative Years in History of Country Ends With Session Today.

IMPORTANT LAWS PASSED

Review Shows That Congressmen
Year—War Measures up.

Washington, Dec. 31.—One of the busiest legislative years in the history of American Congressmen ended today with the recess of Congress over New Year's Day. Except for a six weeks adjournment, the national legislators were in continuous session from January 12, 1914 until today. This statement would not be fair, if allowed to stand, however without the further comment that prior to January 12, Congress had been in session continuously since the incoming of the Wilson administration, March 4, 1913:

Perhaps the most important piece of legislation enacted during the year was the law provided for the new banking and currency system. Creating from 8 to 12 regional reserve banks, (later fixed at 12) under the direction of a Federal Reserve Board, and providing for the reserves of all the national, and many of what had previously been state banks, to be kept with the Federal banks, instead of with correspondent banks in central reserve cities, as previously, this was probably the most radical reform in the currency system of the country ever put into effect. The provision for the discounting of commercial paper by the member banks, and the issuance of new currency to cover this discounting by the reserve banks, provided what was thought to be a strong preventive of panics, and provided also a sure remedy against temporary stringencies in the amount of actual currency on hand, especially at such times as when the corps are moved.

Another act of the year, that provided for the construction of a railroad in Alaska at a cost of $35,000,000, and its operation after completion by the government, was tremendously important from two different viewpoints. It provided for the opening up for use by the people, of what President Wilson is fond of calling that storehouse of riches. Incidentally, it is regarded by some as a long step toward government ownership of all of the railroads. Certainly, as it is operated year by year, it will form at least the basis of a comparison with the privately owned railroads in the United States.

One of the bitterest fights of the year was over the repeal of the tolls exemption clause for American owned coastwise ships passing through the Panama Canal. The passage of this act means that every coastwise ship passing through the big ditch will have to pay its way, just as though it were an American ship in the foreign trade, or for that matter a foreign owned ship.

Two important measures of the so-called Anti-Trust program were enacted during the year. One of these created the Federal Trade Commission, which will exercise much the same sort of power over industrial corporations as is exercised over the railroads by the Interstate Commerce Commission, thus bringing both sorts of companies under Federal control.

A number of important bills were passed by the House which were not enacted because of the failure of the senate to pass them. These include the immigration bill, including the famous literacy test, which would restrict immigration, and modify the rules regarding it to meet the opinion of a number of authorities on immigration. Two of the most important of the conservation bills, that providing for the leasing of water power sites now withheld from entry and the general dam bill, were also passed by the House but not by the Senate during the year, while one bill, the La Follette Seamen's bill, passed both houses, (the Senate prior to this year however) but in such different forms that no agreement was reached during the year between the two houses.

Congress passed a resolution justifying the President's action in ordering an invasion of Mexico at Vera Cruz following the insult to the American flag at Tampico by soldiers directly responsible to Huerta, at that time dictator of Mexico.

Twenty-six peace treaties, most of them the breathing spell variety, providing for one year to interpose after any overt act before any hostilities should occur, were ratified by the Senate. The upper house also received more than 5,000 nominations from the President, and ratified most of them.

There were bitter fights over many of them, incidentally, especially, Paul M. Warburg and Thomas D. Jones, for the Federal Reserve Board, the first of whom was confirmed and the second withdrawn; Attorney General McReynolds, to be Justice of the Supreme Court, John Skelton Williams, to be comptroller of the currency, Interstate Commerce Commissioner Daniels, and Henry M. Pindell, to be Ambassador to Russia. Some of the most important pieces of legislation of the year were those resulting from the European war, the war emergency bills.

One of these put the government into the insurance business, that providing that the government should write war risk insurance when private corporations would not underwrite business at reasonable terms. This has proved a great boon to shipping since war outbreak. Congress made two distinct appropriations to bring stranded American citizens home from war stricken Europe.

Another emergency war measure was that sweeping aside the tariff duties and other restrictions which had hitherto prevented the placing of foreign built ships under the American flag. The same measure also lodged with the President discretion to waive the restrictions regarding all the officers of such ships being American citizens, thus laying the foundation during the war for an American merchant marine, which would carry American products abroad regardless of the war conditions.

Congress also so amended the Aldrich Vreeland emergency currency act, during the early days of the war, but before the Federal Reserve banking system had gotten into operation, as to make that workable, and it was availed of for the first time since its passage, years before. The Senate passed a cotton warehousing bill, during the early days of the war, providing for government inspection and supervision of the warehouses, but this was lost in the House. A tremendous fight to have the government buy cotton from the Southern planters at 10 cents a pound was defeated and the bill voted down.

Another result of the war, and for its cutting down of imports from foreign countries, with accompanying reduction in the tariff duties, was the war tax bill. This measure, providing for the raising of more than $90,000,000 annually by internal taxation, was put through both Houses on a most bitter fight, virtually all the Republicans voting against it. Supplementing the Alaska Railroad bill, passed early in the year, another measure, passed late in the fall, provided for the leasing of government coal lands in that territory, and also for the government mining some of them itself, another instance of government ownership which pleased the Socialists.

The report was signed by all the members of the grand jury as follows: John W. Colhee, Frank G. Reeve, Roscoe Titsworth, William A. Hardy, John E. Harrison and Alden Johnson.

In the regular report to the court the grand jury asked to be discharged. Judge Megee discharged the grand jury conditionally. They are not to report again unless an emergency arises, as this grand jury is subject to call until another jury is drawn which will be done the Monday before the opening of the February term of court.

In the report to the court the grand jury stated that the county buildings and institutions had not been examined because of the fact that it has been only a short time ago that a grand jury did this. The grand jury complimented Joe Dickman, custodian of the court house, for the building's appearance and also praised the placing of storm doors at all the entrances. The grand jury suggested that these storm doors be continued every winter. Prosecutor Smith was also thanked by the jury for his treatment during their sessions. The grand jury was in session a total of three days, and was called principally for the investigation of the Cleveland case.

WILL ENTERTAIN LAWYERS.

John A. Titsworth will entertain the members of the Rushville bar at his home, corner of Main and Ninth streets, with a dinner next Wednesday evening. The occasion will be in honor of Judge John D. Megee and Prosecutor Donald Smith, the retiring officers of the court, and Judge Will M. Sparks and Prosecutor Albert Stevens, who will take office tomorrow.

"I find that instead of getting colder hearted during these years I have reached out towards the down and out class and the intemperate men who have found their way into this court," he said. "There haven't been more than two or three of the hundred or more murders I have prosecuted who would not have led useful lives had they escaped the few hasty moments during which the crimes were committed. They were all good at heart, but were over hasty."

Baker spoke of the Knabe case. "It was a murder, I fully believe, but was the most mysterious murder in the history of the state. I am sorry it was not my good fortune to aid to clear it up."

Mrs. Walter M. Pearce, corner of Eleventh and Main streets, achieved a feat yesterday that was very unusual. LEE IS SET FREE BY GRAND JURY

Negro Who Was Held in Connection
Freed Today.

Jurors Feel That There Was Not Enough Evidence Against Lee to Warrant His Conviction.

John Lee, colored, held in connection with the killing of Joe Clevenger was given his freedom this morning by the grand jury when it made the final report on the case. The grand jury returned an ignoramus against Lee and he was brought into court and told by Judge Megee that there was no indictment against him and that he could have his freedom at any time by asking the sheriff.

The action of the grand jury in failing to return an indictment against Lee came as no surprise as it was not believed at any time that there was enough evidence to warrant a conviction and the grand jury was composed of men, who would not put the county at an expense of holding a trial if they did not believe a conviction was possible.

Following the finding of the dead body of Clevenger, near his home with a rifle bullet in his breast a search was made for a strange negro reported to have been at the Clevenger home on the night before the supposed murder. Lee was captured four miles north of the city three days later and has been in jail ever since. The finding of the rifle in a straw stack south of the city caused Lee to chance his first story regarding a third party to the crime and then he was charged with murder before Mayor Bebout.

Lee waived preliminary hearing in court as this court has no jurisdiction in a charge of this kind and he was bound over to await the action of the grand jury. The grand jury immediately took up the case and spent two days examining witnesses who might throw some light on the events of the night leading up to the morning on which Clevenger was killed.

When brought before Judge Megee and told of the finding of the grand jury Lee expressed his thanks to the court and the members of the grand jury. He also stated that he wished to thank Prosecutor Smith for the fairness in which the charge against him had been handled. Lee was deeply touched and showed signs of emotion when told that he was at liberty to go. Judge Megee warned Lee to stay away from such places hereafter and he would avoid trouble. Lee was turned over to the sheriff with the instruction that he should be given his liberty when it was desired. Sheriff Cavitt purchased Lee a new pair of shoes and several articles of clothing. Lee expects to leave soon for his home in Covington.

The finding of the grand jury seemed to meet with approval on all sides as it would probably have been impossible to secure a jury that would have convicted Lee. The finding of the grand jury makes the killing of Clevenger accidental. The grand jury took all this into consideration in returning the ignoramus against Lee.

The finding of the grand jury is as follows: We the members of the grand jury have examined all the witnesses we could find that had any knowledge of the circumstances relating to the above charge (murder) against the defendant, John Lee and find that there is not sufficient evidence to warrant the defendant's being held to answer the charge as

Fair, Austrians Say.

Vienna, Dec. 31.—The war office in its review of the situation today declares efforts of the Russians to force the Carpathian passes have been repulsed. The danger of an attempted invasion of Hungary is said to be remote because strong forces now dominate every inlet through the mountains. The Russians attempted a surprise attack at Uzsook Pass but were in turn surprised and were defeated with heavy losses.

WAGON HIT BY INTERURBAN

Alfred Senour, formerly a resident of this county, died at the Deaconess as the result of injuries he received when he was struck by an J. & C. interurban car at the outskirts of Indianapolis Christmas eve. He was fifty-seven years of age and lived at 3313 Prospect street, Indianapolis. A son of the deceased, Willard Senour, testified before the Marion county coroner in the inquest yesterday. He said that his father was unconscious when he reached his side and that his version of the accident was never obtained. The car struck a wagon on which elder Senour was riding. The accident happened near the Senour home.

F. H. Senour and Miss Irene Wilson, of near Andersonville, brother and sister respectively of the deceased, went to Indianapolis today to attend the funeral.

JUDGE MEGEE'S LAST DAY IN COURT

His Closing Day on Bench is Quiet

Judge Megee spent his last day on the bench in a quiet manner, there being little business of importance, outside of the report of the grand jury. Judge Blair of the Shelby circuit court was expected here today to hear a motion for a new trial in the case of Albert Greeley against Alonzo T. Hooten, et al., but telephoned that it would be impossible for him to come. The case was a claim and when tried two years ago the jury found for the defendant.

The receivership case of Lindley M. Moore against Paul Cooper was set for this morning but was postponed until next Wednesday morning at nine o'clock. The parties involved reside in Carthage. Cooper asked for a continuance on the grounds that he had not been properly summoned. He alleged that the sheriff of Hancock county left the summons with his father instead of handing it to him personally. Judge Megee granted the continuance.

A. G. Reece has moved from his farm west of the city to the McWhinney property in East Sixth street.

WATER WAGON IS COUNCIL MAKES BEING OILED UP A GOOD SHOWING

It is All Primed For Start of Annual Trip Down Rough Highway
Tonight at Midnight.

RIDING TO BE HARD AS USUAL

Jolts and Bumps Will be Just as Numerous But There Are Some
Prepared to Stick it Out.

Today the water wagon was being greased and oiled preparatory to the annual trip. The same old route will be followed and it is altogether probable that just as many will fall off as in past years. The advance sale of reserved seats is heavy, which indicates the great number of "New Year's resolutions" which are being formulated in the minds of Rushville men and women.

The water wagon always is crowded. But there are many folks who wish they were off when they get on. Falling off is not the easiest thing in the world. Some times the fall hurts. And again, when some folks get on they wish they had favored all of the new ideas in road legislation so that highways would be smoother.

The time for starting never varies. It is always at midnight when the old year goes out and the infant rolls in. There never are any delays. When the church bells begin to ring and the whistles to blow, then it is time for you to climb on. No allowances are made. You have to start on time or not start at all. If Friend Wife gave you a box of cigars for Christmas and you haven't smoked them all up yet, you can't board the wagon under the terms that you will be allowed to smoke them up before you sign the pledge. You will have to give them away.

When the foolish people who sit up until midnight tonight get out in the zero weather and begin to yell at the moon, that's the sign for you to climb on. Then the wagon will start crunching down the ice-covered streets. Once it is started, there is no stopping it. If you want off you will have to fall off and those of you who have been on before know what an experience that is. It is indescribable.

The 1915 model, it is said does not vary from the water wagons of the past. It will have a high rolling back which is hard to stick, and from the top of which to the earth is a long distance. Bruises are sure to result in descent, but everyone who climbs on takes that into account.

Even though the falls are hard ones, the water wagon grows more popular as the years go by. In all of the thousands of years that have passed, it has always been the fashion for a large number to make a grand rush for the wagon at the last moment. This has resulted in the conductor obtaining a more commodious wagon each year. Then, it has always been found that the conductor has to urge those already aboard to move up to the front and make more room for the late arrivals.

Usually, when the wagon gets under way, the inside is crowded and people are hanging on the steps. It is only after the wagon has got well under way, that the jolts become noticeable and the riding difficult. Then the falls start. One after another riders topple off. Of course, there are always a few folks to stick on for the whole ride. They always have a larger bank account at the end of the trip and have fewer headaches and cases of indigestion, once they get used to the bumps. And besides, they are so much better prepared for the next trip.

Men to Reduce Expenses and
Blaine Hunt is Released.

The city council met in special session this afternoon and took up the business of closing up the city's business for the year. All of the city employees were allowed salary in full, including today so that the city would start the new year without any claims outstanding.

The claims against the city totaled between three and four thousand dollars. While a complete financial report of the year's business is not yet ready, it is estimated that the city will show a saving of about $7,000 on the year over the last administration for the same period.

The financial report will be ready in a few days, it is expected. The city administration ended its first year today and a saving of $7,000 over the last year of the Democratic administration is not a bad start. The councilmen are highly elated at the prospects of reducing the city's indebtedness. All of the outstanding claims were allowed this afternoon and other outstanding business was taken up.

Cigars and apples were presented to the council by Mayor Bebout as a Christmas present. The city had enough money in the banks to pay the outstanding debts and the administration starts the new year in better financial shape than a year ago when the present council took office.

As a further retrenchment policy the police committee recommended the cutting down in the present police force and Blaine Hunt, the third man on the police force, was released. The police committee stated that the present force was believed to be too large, when it is taken into consideration that past administrations employed only two policemen, the chief and an assistant. As Hunt was the last man on the force it was recommended that he be released from duty, starting January 1.

Hunt has been on the force just one year and the reason for letting him go is the fact that the city council can save money and believes it can successfully operate the police force with two men as was done in the past. The reduction of the police force will mean a saving to the city of $60 a month, according to the police committee. The question was passed by the unanimous vote of the council. Other business of small importance was to come before the meeting.

Petrograd, Dec. 31.—Today's report from the front declares the Germans are being driven back at several points from the Vistula and Rawka rivers following a series of attacks in which both sides lost heavily. The advantage, it is stated, is with the Russians although along most of the battlefield the fighting is an artillery duel.

The Galician operations are progressing, the Austrians being compelled to retire still farther in the Carpathian passes.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—A dozen families were driven to the streets in their nightclothes, several firemen were injured and $100,000 damage done by a fire which gutted and destroyed early today the three-story brick building occupied by Frank Weber & Company, wholesale grocers.

A stiff wind off Lake Michigan and a temperature of four degrees above zero froze most of the water as it struck the burning structure. Those driven to the streets from the adjoining buildings suffered intensely with the cold. Several were drenched with water, their clothes freezing to their body.

WILSON'S SPEECH WILL BE A KEYNOTE

Definitely Decided Today There Will
be Only One Address at Jackson

NO BANQUET WILL BE HELD

(By United Press.)
Washington, Dec. 31.—President Wilson today definitely decided to make a trip to Indianapolis to speak at a Jackson day Democratic celebration there January 8 under the auspices of the Indiana Democratic club.

The president wishes to have a word with the entire country and his trip to Indianapolis will be for that purpose. It is understood his Indianapolis speech will be a keynote.

There was speculation whether he would mention the Terre Haute probe and District Attorney Frank C. Dailey. The speech in general will not be for local application, it is said.

It was definitely decided today there will be no banquet which means that only one speech will be made. The president will leave at 7:15 Thursday evening arriving at Indianapolis at 1:35 Friday afternoon. He will travel in a special car attached to a regular Pennsylvania train.

Elder C. W. Radcliff of Connerville will preach at the Primitive Baptist church Friday night. Elder W. O. Parker of Alexandria will preach Monday and Tuesday night, January fourth and fifth.

MAY YET HAVE TO FACE TRIAL

Possible Thirteen Indicted in Connection With Legislative Probe

If Another Trial is Held, There Will
be no "Agreed Statement of

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Dec. 31.—The thirteen members and employees of the 1913 state legislature, including Lieutenant Governor William P. O'Neill and Secretary of State Homer L. Cook, who were acquitted by Judge Markey in criminal court here on an agreed statement of facts, may yet have to face trial where evidence will be introduced, if a statement made to the United Press today by Alvah J. Rucker, prosecutor-elect, is significant. Rucker takes office tonight at midnight, succeeding prosecutor Frank P. Baker, who agreed with attorneys for the defendants on the facts in the case and who prosecuted the cases assisted.

Rucker was asked by the United Press whether he considered the indictments against the thirteen legislators as a closed incident.

"I can hardly say," said Rucker. "I am studying the law in the case right now, but am not ready to make a decision."

He was asked whether it was not true that these defendants, having stood trial and been acquitted, were exempt from prosecution of the grounds of jeopardy.

"I do not think so," said Rucker. "They were tried on only one or two of hundreds of similar deeds, and I believe they could be brought to trial on other violations of the criminal statutes."

Rucker then added: "The office of the prosecutor will be conducted fairly and squarely. Everybody will get a square deal—and every prosecution will be pushed to the limit."

The office of the prosecutor of Marion county is considered of more importance by the state following the trial of the legislators. With the retirement of Frank Baker and Judge Joseph T. Markey tonight, pass two officials who have much in the state mind. Their terms have been signified by such sensational events as the murder of Helen Knabe and the legislature probe. They will be succeeded by Judge James A. Collins and Mr. Rucker.

Good Bye to the Troubles of 1914

The bells of New Year's eve
will ring out a peck of troubles.

But after all, 1914 was not as bad a year as some of us feared.

It has taught us many valuable lessons. It has made us more self-reliant.

We are in better shape to welcome 1915.

What will the New Year be?
It will be just as good as we make it and no better.

Begin planning today. Look to the future with courage.

Be aggressive
— Advertise.

Let the world know you intend to make 1915 your biggest business year.

The Best Guarantee You Can Get

with any article is the Unwritten Guarantee. The guarantee that years of satisfactory service has made. If you want a flowery guarantee written with gilded ink on fine bond paper, buy a fraud. If is necessary for the fraud to guarantee you a lot of richly painted stuff in order to get your business. Do you want a guarantee with a Statson Hat, A Singer Sewing Machine or a Packard Automobile? No, you don't. Why? Because you know these articles are right and always have been, and if you were to buy one of these articles that was wrong it would be made right without any argument. Nice satisfactory way to do business ain't it. Do you know of any one with one of our buggies that is not satisfied, that thinks he got a dirty deal, that thinks he paid for something he didn't get, or thinks we are rough to do business with? If you know a man of this kind we want to see him because every buggy we sell has to be satisfactory. That is why your neighbors buy their buggies from us. They know—they have had the experience and realize the fact that buying their buggies of us means satisfaction. We have a nice line of STORM BUGGIES for you to make a selection from and want you to see them before you buy, then if you buy one of our buggies you will be a satisfied customer the rest of your life. Watch our satisfied customers make our Buggy business grow.

NEGOTIATIONS STARTED TODAY

(By United Press.) London, Dec. 31.—Direct negotiations in connection with the United States protest against Britain exercising the right of search on the high sea began today. This afternoon Ambassador Page called at the foreign office by appointment. For a long time he was closeted with Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister. It is understood that Page explained the position of the United States and emphasized the protests were made in the most friendly spirit with the hope of clearing up conditions that if ignored might result seriously.

A FLAT CONTRADICTION

Germans Deny French Claims of Success Today Are True.

(By United Press.) Berlin, (By Wireless to London,) Dec. 31.—Flat contradiction of the French claims of successes came from the war office today. It is declared in the official statement that the French attacks north of Chaulons have been repulsed with heavy losses and that at no point along the battlefront have there been any gains by the allies.

According to the statement, the allies are shelling the Westende again and have succeeded in destroying many of the houses and public buildings. The fire however had not caused any military losses, according to the war office.

Notice to my Friends and Patrons.

This is to notify you that I have resigned my position with the John B. Morris Hardware store and will now be found at Gunn Haydon's on Main street, where I will be pleased to meet all my old customers.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Look young! Nobody can tell if you use Grandmother's simple recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.

GIRLS DO THIS for your Rough and Snarling Face. Steam your face well, rinse with cold water, dry with soft towel, and apply Labeline with soft damp sponge. First application will make your skin fresher and clearer. Make it a daily habit and notice decided improvement.

Society News

Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Jamieson's Bible classes of the United Presbyterian Sabbath school will hold a social Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Trabue in North Harrison street.

Twenty members of the Psi Iota Xi were entertained last evening with a gorgeous banquet at the Scanlan House. The banquet was given in honor of the out-of-town members, who are home for the holidays.

The New Year's dance to be given tonight by the Knights of Pythias promises to be one of the best of the season and a large crowd is expected. The Douglas orchestra will furnish the music and dancing will start at eight-thirty o'clock.

The regular weekly prayer meeting will be held tonight at the St. Paul's Methodist church. The service will be led by the pastor the Rev. A. D. Batchelor.

There will be a special meeting of the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias Friday night. Business of importance is to be transacted and a large attendance is desired.

A girl weighing six pounds was born to the wife of V. O. Elkins this morning at their home in North Harrison street.

Amusements

The Gem will show a two reel feature "Love and Surgery" for the first picture tonight. It is said to be a great comedy and Billy Ritchey and Gertrude Selby are featured. The situations are said to be very funny. The other is a drama entitled "The Quarrel." It is an Eclair drama and featured Stanley Walpole and Mildred Bright. Tomorrow night the two reel feature "The Lass O' Killikrankie" will be shown.

The Princess offers "The Girl and the Stowaway" a two reel feature in addition to the tuberculosis picture and lecture by Dr. L. C. Kigin, formerly of this city. Alice Joyce and Tom Moore are featured in the drama. The lecture of Dr. Kigin is given along with the motion picture. The picture was taken under his supervision and is said to be very interesting. Tomorrow matinee and night the big feature in five reels, "The House Next Door" will be shown. This is a Lubin feature and is a story of religion. It shows many thrilling scenes and is from the successful play of the same name.

The Mystic will show a two reel Lubin "Her Mother Was a Lady" for the first picture tonight. It is said to be a sensational drama and features an all-star cast. The other is a Selig comedy entitled "The Rajah's Vacation." Both are said to be exceptionally good pictures. Large crowds attended the Evelyn Nesbitt Thaw picture yesterday and the attraction proved all that had been said for it.

Fritzi Scheff in a comedy with music, "Pretty Mrs. Smith" will come to the Murat, New Years Eve, New Years Day and Saturday fresh from her triumph at the Casino Theatre, New York. This announcement will interest admirers of this magnetic opera star who has appeared in half a dozen big successes. Associated with Miss Scheff will be Charlotte Greenwood of "Man With Three Wives," and Winter Garden fame, and Sydney Grant, late of the "Tik-tok Man of Oz" which had a long run in New York and Chicago, and George Anderson.

Oliver Moroseo, Author of a number of successes, wrote the play assisted by Elmer Harris and Henry James and Earl Carroll are responsible for the music and lyrics. The work was originally brought out in Los Angeles last season, Mr. Moroseo having many interests in the vicinity of the coast. Since that time it has been rewritten in part and many beauties have been added so that now it is said to be smooth and attractive.

The story has to do with a fascinating society woman who has gone to Palm Beach to seek rest and seclusion after separating from her husband. The latter happens to be her third partner in the matrimonial game. The others, it appears, are believed to be dead, but they return to alarm "Pretty Mrs. Smith." The third husband chanches in, and with the three the heroine has a merry time. The situation is ridiculous, but so pleasantly handled that there is merriment for the friends and joy for the charming Mrs. Smith. The music is said to throw pleasant lights on the whole and fills a long felt want in the loose-jointed efforts that frequently pass for musical entertainment.

There is a beautiful chorus with exceptional voices and a massive production.

ALLOW CLAIMS.

The county commissioners were in session this afternoon settling up the business for the year. The only thing taken up was the matter of allowing claims, which have been hanging fire for some time. The commissioners meet again Monday when, the new member, P. A. Newhouse takes office. The meeting today was held according to law as the commissioners are compelled to allow claims the last of the year.

New Year's day will be generally observed here although very few if any of the stores will be closed. The banks will be closed all day and the postoffice will be closed after ten o'clock in the morning. The city mail carriers will make one delivery in the morning but the rural carriers will not make any delivery at all.

The day will be marked by the entrance into their offices of a number of county officials elected November 3 and the retirement of the old officers. The change of officers in the court house is generally quite an occasion because the in-comers generally have a plentiful supply of apples and cigars on hands.

A number of watch parties are scheduled for tonight and many will see the old year out and the new year in. The new year is always announced here by the ringing of church bells.

FRENCH CAPTURE A SMALL VILLAGE

Of Great Strategical Importance Because it Opens Road Leading To Aitkirch.

Paris, Dec. 31.—The French have captured the village of Steinbach in upper Alsace following one of the hardest fought engagements of the war to date on the eastern front. They had literally to battle their way from house to house, meeting a raking machine gun fire from the rapid-firers, the Germans had posted on roofs and in windows.

The losses on both sides were very large. Occupation of this position is declared officially to be of the utmost strategic importance, opening as it does the way to the road that runs to Altrich and Mulhausen.

EVACUATE BIGGEST PLACE THEY HELD

Carranza Forces Slip Out of Monterey, Which is Now Occupied by General Villa.

Washington, Dec. 31.—Carranza's forces evacuated Monterey, the largest city in their possession, on December 29 and General Villa with a large force is now occupying it, according to official dispatches to the state department this afternoon. They also stated that the railway between Tampico and Monterey had been cut and that trains had been fired on.

General Villa is now expected to march upon Tampico and to clear the northern border of the small Carranzista forces in that section.

Disruption in Provisional President Gutierrez's cabinet was also reported today in an official dispatch from Mexico City. The minister of public instruction has resigned.

1916 Will End it.

Governor Colquitt of Texas is convinced that 1916 will see the end of
the Democratic regime in the nation.
He says so in plain language over
his own signature to an article
which appeared in the Cincinnati
Enquirer. He is one of those disgusted Democrats who has some
right to expect something of the Wilson administration. One of his
claims for being heard is the fact
that he raised $10,000 for the Wilson
campaign fund.

Here are some of Governor O. B.
Colquitt's specifications of failures
issued over his signature:

"The Wilson administration has
been the greatest failure in the history of the presidency."

"The administration's tariff law
was pledged to lower the cost of living and it has had the contrary effect."

"The administration's foreign policy has been imbecile."

"The administration's repeal of
the Panama canal tolls exemption
law in violation of the party's na-

"The Wilson-Bryan management
of the Mexican affair has been an egregious failure. They landed an American army in Vera Cruz to force
Huerta to salute the flag and have
expenses of that ridiculous expedi-
tion."

"Wilson and Bryan have stood by
encouraging one gang of bandits
after another while people were be-
the vast American interests in that
country were being confiscated and
shot to pieces, and today the Mexi-
can chaos is worse than at any time
since Madero was assassinated."

laws are bare-faced fakes so far as
protecting the people from trust op-
pression is concerned. These laws
please nobody so well as the Stan-
trusts."

"I believed at first that the federal reserve banking act was the administration's one meritorious achieve-
ment, but now bankers tell me it is going to prove a failure. The con-
appears to rest in New York City instead of Washington."

Governor Colquitt having given
these and other specifications of the
failure of the Democratic administration, says: "I am fully convinced the national election of 1916 will end the Democratic regime. The policies of the Democratic nation's administration have wholly failed
either to curb monopolies or lower
the cost of living for the people and
deprive millions of wage earners of
employment."

POLITICAL COMMENT OF INDIANA PAPERS

(Rochester Republican)

time the Democratic party gets into

slump, loss of revenue and cessation
expenses, pay warless war taxes and
holders in office.

(Steuben Republican)

Had you noticed what would have happened if 1914 had been a presidential year? Take the figures of
the electoral college would have
party and 203 for the Democratic
party.

(Danville Republican)

tried today at the ballot box on "an
agreed statement of facts" the verdict of the people would be very different from that of the Marion coun-
solons.

(Wabash Plain Dealer)

before." The shadows which portend the complete triumph of the Republican party in Indiana and the
such startling rapidity that by the
itself remaining. In the meantime
present ills with what fortitude they
are able to command, resting as comfortably as possible under the assur-
years.

(Seymour Republican)

The trouble with Democratic politics in Indiana is that they are under
the complete domination of the machine. So long as this condition
exists the people will suffer and there
appears to be no relief. In the face
the machine with its many lieuten-
ants is already getting control of
convene the first of next year. While
openly promises have been made that
can see that the same crowd is in
to the 1913 legislative session, but
the pledges were completely forgot-
ten when the work was started. The
machine is too strongly entrenched to
be overthrown by the Democratic
party itself for some time to come.
Leaders may openly oppose the tac-
tics of the combination and assert
in the machine's chain.

It has been said with startling
takes place the gate of gifts is closed."
All the vitality we have is born
with us. We cannot by taking
thought add one cubit to our stature,
nor can we by taking thought add
one straw's weight to our vitality.
We may only cultivate that which
matryr is reported to have done.

babies die shortly after birth be-
cause of lack of vitality. They
make it go.

The life insurance companies ask
an applicant for insurance the ages
of his father or mother if living and
if dead their ages at death. The
answer will tell whether or not the
man, with proper care, will live long.

If born with weak vitality, one
may make the most of it by living
course, burn up the strongest vitality.
We (mankind) are only fifty per cent
in all manner of foolish ways. Alcohol, a fearful drug, is used by millions of gallons to burn up human

Our average duration of life is
not to exceed forty-two years. By
any one dies a natural death; we
up our vitality with alcohol, and thus
reduce efficiency and duration of life.
Besides taking this awful drug to the
extent of $1,000,000,000 annually
we spend $500,000,000 more for
other drugs, all of them poisons.

Not content with foolishly assault-
ing our bodies with these tons on
and indulge our sense of taste in
such a way as to cause the body it-
self to make other poisons (toxins)
which burn up vitality. The riotous
eating of flesh results in the production of poisons in the intestines.
These poisons bring ills unnumbered
and unnamed. Are your arteries becoming hard? Is arterio-sclerosis
appearing in your body? Do you have bilious attacks? Do you have rheumatism? Do you have headaches? Did your hair begin to fall
out at forty? Do you suffer from
dizziness? Do you have clammy
hands and feet? Do you get tired
bed? Is anything wrong with your
heart, your liver or your kidneys?
If you answer yes to any of these
then you are burning up your vita-
lity and you are a fool to do it.

rational life. High living, rich living
is fool living.

DR. J. N. HURTY.

PENSION SYSTEM
AGAIN PROPOSED

Rushville School Teachers Are Interested in a Bill Which May

Cities of 20,000 or More Inhabitants
May Have a Fund Now-State-
Wide Plan Suggested.

Teachers in the local public
schools are much interested in the
proposed bill which may come before
the next Indiana legislature, and
which provides for the establishment
of a teacher's pension fund. The
sessions of the legislature and teach-
thousand inhabitants are now en-
titled to establish the pension system they so desire. The question of
a state-wide pension fund will come
before the legislature committees of
the county superintendents, city superintendents and Teachers' Association.

Among the profession in this city
there seems to be a divided opinion
pension fund but the majority of the
teachers would not raise serious objection if the plan is approved by the
said, would be maintained by the
tax-payers and the teachers, the latter given a certain percent of their
salaries each year to the fund.

requests from various parts of Indiana have come for the establishment
of a state-wide pension system for
plan suggest that instructors in
small towns and in the rural schools
be included as well as those in the
larger cities.

The Indianapolis Federation of School Teachers, that has had a
pension fund since 1907, does not
want to be included in the state-wide
prefers to remain independent. John A.
Lapp, director of the State Bureau
of Legislative Information, asserts
that, in his opinion, there would be

the state teachers would not insist
that cities already provided with satisfactory pension funds be included.

The pension question is also agi-
Federation of School Teachers. Miss
Belle O'Hair, who is president of the
federation and also secretary of the
pension board, says that, so far as
she knows, nothing definite had been
accomplished by the committee appointed for that purpose.

The troubles of the federation
have to do with its pension law,
passed in 1907. At the last session
of the Legislature the question of
whether teachers who had resigned
fund was quite bitterly contested.
Mr. Lapp says that between nine and

The Indianapolis federation fought
this bill because, it said, it would deplete its fund. The fund has now a
a year is from the teachers and
pension is for $600 a year, if a
teacher has served forty years; the
minimum is $275, for twenty-five
years of service. The city teachers
as their stand that if the city wants
should provide the money for the
purpose.

YEAR FILLED WITH UPSETS

All Branches of Sport Furnished
New Candidates for Public Favor
Many Champions Going Down

Two New Boxing Champs Came to
Front—Quimet Retains Golf

BY HAL SHERIDAN

New York, Dec. 31.—"The year of the Great Upset" is the epitaph upon the athletic year of 1914. Baseball, pugilism, golf, rowing, polo and tennis furnished new candidates for the public favor and the downfall of champions who were supposed to be entrenched in their positions. Football presented many surprises although Harvard was able to repeat in the premier place.

With the Braves' great dash for the National League championship and the even more thrilling grabbing of the World's championship in four straight games the world is reasonably familiar. To analyze that double feat—walloping the haughty Giants and the peerless Athletics twice in the same year—is something which would be vain and profitless. Manager Stallings tried vainly to explain in his vaudeville engagement how his cohorts won. Perhaps the only explanation that can be made is that Stallings inspired his men to have confidence in themselves and the whole matter may be summed up in that little incident when he cancelled the Braves' hotel reservations at Philadelphia after the first two games and said that his team would not return to the city for his team would win the next two games at Boston, making a return trip unnecessary.

In football Harvard won again largely through the splendid coaching of Percy Haughton and such excellent players as Mahan Bradlee, Hardwick, Penneck and Logan. Whether it was Haughton or whether it was the material at his command which brought impressive triumph will always be a mooted question. The effect of Brickley's absence must be considered in such a debate. Yale under the tutelage of Hinkley was a factor until the crushing defeat in the Bowl. Princeton with wonderful material was a disappointment. The surprise, however, came in the excellent showing made by Cornell and the Army and the still more remarkable games played by Washington and Jefferson, Pittsburgh, Williams and Rutgers.

Two new boxing champions came to the front in Kid Williams of Baltimore, bantamweight, and Freddie Welsh, of England, lightweight. Williams knocked out Johnny Coulon in the third round at Los Angeles on

WILL HAVE TO BORROW AGAIN

State, After Advance Call on County
Treasurers Right After Election,
Will Soon be Short.

TEMPORARY LOANS ARE PAID

But More Money Will be Needed in
In Advance on Call.

Although the state of Indiana made an advance on county treasurers, November 5, two days after the last election, and obtained a cool million thereby, it is altogether probable that the state will soon have to begin borrowing money again to tide it over until some more funds can be raised.

It has just become known that state officials made an advance call on the county treasurers two days after the election. This sum enabled the state to pay off debts due at that time as well as temporary loans amounting to $685,000, loaned by Greencastle, Indianapolis and Tipton banks, which fell due today and had to be paid under the law.

Besides this the state officials authorized the payment—from the state debt sinking fund—of $130,000 in foreign debt bonds that wipe the slate clean of Indiana's foreign debt. This amount also was due on the last day of December and had to be paid. The total interest the state paid on its temporary loans—made from time to time since September 30, the close of the state's fiscal year, to overcome the treasury deficits that arose from month to month in the general fund—was $12,054.43 and the interest paid when the foreign debt was discharged

June 9 and Welsh grabbed his claim to fame by outpointing Willie Ritchie in London on July 7. For those fans who crowd the fight clubs expecting to see a championship change hands, it may be well to point out that neither of these two fights was worth a lead quarter or a shilling to see. The remaining divisions of the pugilistic world have the same champions as they had years ago. Johnny Kilbane is still featherweight champion, Jack Johnson, heavyweight, leader, the other, with the above exceptions, classes are in doubt. The most interesting bid for leadership is in the middleweight class where four excellent fighters are neck and neck for the honors: Mike Gibbons, McGoorty, Clabby and Dillon.

Boston claims its third champion in golfer Quimet who trimmed the veteran Jerry Travers after he himself had been beaten by Walter Hagen a professional, for the open championship. Just what the distinction is between amateur and professional gold would be difficult to state but if a golfer may have amateur status young Quimet is without doubt the leader of that class.

Maurice McLoughlin, for the third consecutive year, takes first as the best of American tennis players. Some question arose as to whether or not a time-honored precedent should be set aside in order to give McLoughlin front rank, inasmuch as he had been defeated by Richard Norris Williams 2d in the final round of the national championship tournament. But precedent never stood a ghost of a chance with good old common sense and the ranking committee put the red-haired Californian in the premier position. Williams was placed second and Karl Behr third.

Columbia won the Poukeepsie regatta, defeating the Cornell crew to everyone's surprise. Harvard's second eight went to England and defeated the best that England could send against them for the grand challenge cup at Henley. Yale beat Harvard by a foot at New London which was a distinct blow at the grand old oar.

The state treasury will have left in it enough money to run the state perhaps to the last of the month of February unless the bill for the state's part of the fight against the foot and mouth disease in Indiana is payable by that time. Then there must be immediate borrowing. That is not probable, however. But it is probable that temporary loans of at least a quarter of a million will be needed before June. It is expected that the foot and mouth disease bill for Indiana will approximate $350,000, as state veterinarians have said that the disease fight in Indiana will total in cost approximately three-quarters of a million dollars, and Indiana will pay half of that if the legislature keeps the promise of Governor Ralston to use all his influence in refunding to the federal government one-half the cost of the fight against the disease.

This big bill for the foot and mouth disease fight and the expenses of the Indiana general assembly, which are being estimated at not to exceed $130,000 (though they ran thousands of dollars in excess of that two years ago) probably must be paid by temporary loans to the state. By the June settlement period state officials believe they will have the finance middle solved to such an extent that Indiana will be among the leading states of the nation, so far as debt and bank balances on the right side of the ledger goes.

The payment of the $130,000 of foreign debt to be made tomorrow will be out of the state debt sinking fund, which will have some balance left therein. The remainder, $635,000 and interest, will be paid out of the general and benevolent institution funds. The total interest on the $815,000 to be paid off tomorrow will be $13,191.93.

The balances left in the state treasury and the incoming fees from departments, including a $300,000 fee recently paid in for a railroad merger, will fall slightly short of taking care of the expenses of the state government during January and February, it is estimated. In all probability a loan will have to be made late in February, particularly if specific appropriations from the legislature should be made to take effect immediately on the passage of the appropriations bill.

In March a call on the county treasurer for advance payments is contemplated, and that should run the state through the month without further loans. The April monthly settlements from the county treasurers ought to take care of that month barring legislative appropriations for specific purposes that may be payable in that month. What will happen as regards the foot and mouth disease expense and the expenses of the legislature, however, keeps problematical the estimates of what money it will be necessary for the state to borrow before its June settlement.

Take a glass of Salts to flush Kidneys
if Bladder bothers you—Drink
lots of water.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

Fathers of Mothers' Pension.

Mrs. Gardar had the vote at last. The whole state appeared to be rejoicing because Illinois had given women the right to vote and Mrs. Gardar born and educated in Chicago, was among those raised to Citizenship by an act of the legislature passed in the last few days of a frenzied session.

Besides the vote, Mrs. Gardar was in the possession of four small children and a husband. The husband was some of the time in the asylum. He was a magnificent man so far as physical parts go, but he was possessed of the opinion that he was heir to the throne of the German empire. He had written a book about it and had all the evidence to prove to any reasonable person that Mrs. Gardar and the children should be living in a Berlin palace.

Being heir to the throne and being called by his duty to the German people, he of course had no time to work for a living. Mrs. Gardar like some others thought he was a bit crazy and the officers often locked him up.

The children and their mother were always in poverty. They were the alleged beneficiaries of professional charity. Many good jobs of scrubbing and washing dishes in cheap restaurants were obtained for Mrs. Gardar by the thoughtful charity people. One charity lady even had Mrs. Gardar work in her basement, leaving the little Gardars to run at large.

Often Mrs. Gardar was late at the charity lady's house and the kind charity lady lectured her on promptness and threatened to have the children removed to an asylum, if their mother was not more punctual.

But before this deed of kindness (one in which the charity ladies were expert) was done, something strange happened. Illinois adopted a law which provided that money, formerly paid asylums to keep children taken from their mothers on account of poverty, might thereafter be paid to the mother, so that she might keep on a home and work in her own rooms and wash in her own basement for her own children.

Mrs. Gardar knew nothing of this law and the charity ladies said nothing to her about it. They were

"made on the mothers' pensions law" as the new act was called. But a neighbor who heard of the new arrangement, told Mrs. Gardar about it and in time she was given a pension of $30 a month with instructions to take care of her own children. She was told that she was under no obligations to any person, nor to any society for the pension and that it was no more a kindness to her than the public school was a kindness.

For the first time since her first child was born, Mrs. Gardar had a feeling of security. She was sure of some income, even if her back did ache and she was so tired she thought she would drop.

For several months she drew the pension and then the kind charity lady, whose clothes she had washed, came and told her the pension was to be stopped.

After the first pension law was adopted, making it possible for all mothers (regardless of the fathers' nationality life or death, folly or wisdom) to be lifted out of poverty, the charity people had expressed indignation. Moreover they worked a day and night to have the law changed. The result was that in Illinois the law was amended at the request of the charity ladies. The amendment said that the husband or father must be dead or incapacitated, if he deserted, the mother and children could not get the pension. If he had not been a citizen, then the mother and children were to be denied the benefits of the pension law.

Of course when the amendment of the kind charity people went into effect, the investigators found that Mr. Gardar in the asylum, claimed to be heir to the throne of Germany. Therefore he was not a citizen and under the new dispensation, Mrs. Gardar was again reduced to poverty and is again washing in the basement of the charity lady's suburban name.

Mrs. Gardar was given the vote by the same legislature that reduced her to poverty and now she may be useful in the campaign to have the pension law restored to its first efficiency. Mrs. Gardar was not the only mother lifted out of poverty by the first mothers' pension law and reduced to penury and misery again by the charity people's amendment. At one stroke 500 children were removed from the pension rolls of Cook County, Illinois and restored to poverty, and the charity ladies are planning to put the children away and relieve mothers of their greatest joy, the championship of their own children.

A constitutional amendment, endorsed by the voters of the state, 40 percent, of whom are women, was the instrument by which the change was effected. A comfortable majority was established at the November election by the prohibition forces in spite of the efforts of the liquor interests. The amendment is self-operative, and carries heavy penalties for violation. Anti-prohibition interests already have launched a fight against the law. Several of the ablest attorneys of the state, including former Attorney General George P. Ballard, have been retained to test its constitutionality before the state supreme court.

Russian Decree Favors Beer

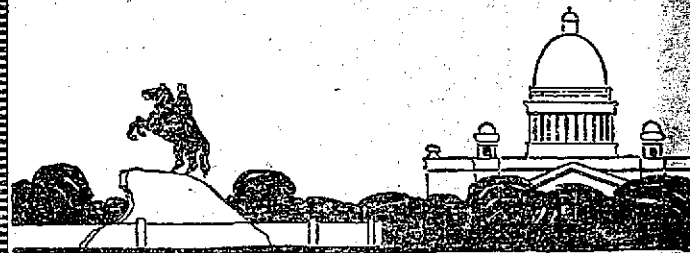

Russia is the latest of the great world powers to recognize officially the temperance value of beer.

By imperial decree the Czar has abolished the manufacture and sale of vodka, but not beer and light wines.

Vodka, a drink to be found only in the Russian Empire, is a strong concoction containing fifty per cent. alcohol.

The government had a monopoly on its manufacture and sale, from which it derived an annual income of $500,000,000, but it sacrificed this enormous revenue to turn its people from strong drink to light beers and temperance.

CURED OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Ohio Man's Case Shows How Terrible Malady Can Be Conquered.

"Dear Sufferer: Last summer I was attacked with kidney trouble. Incessant backache was the first symptom. Whenever I stooped to tie my shoes, I felt a dizzy, swimming sensation in my head. It was almost impossible for me to straighten up because of my stiff back. My hands were puffed and covered with little brownish-yellow spots. The kidneys were highly congested and off in action. I heard of Lloyd's kidney and rheumatism tablets as the new and scientific treatment, so tried it. It proved a wonder. The backache and yellow spots have entirely disappeared and I now feel better in every way. I advise you, sufferers from backache, tired feeling, restlessness, nightly arising, any kidney or bladder ills or rheumatism, to get from your druggist today a few Lloyd's, the kind that cured me. CAPP PLUMBING CO.

BY BURTON K. STANDISH Washington, Dec. 30.—Speaker Champ Clark of the House of Representatives believed in the slogan, "Made in Missouri". Furthermore, he does a lot of quiet advertising for his home state. "Missouri meerschaums" constitute his advertising medium. These pipes of corn cob made in Champ's district at Washington, Mo., are distributed among his friends in the capital as souvenirs. Some of them go home to solace tired nervous legislators friends of the speaker. One is the plaything of a prominent Washington newspaper correspondent's baby. The proud father says they're great for teething children. Later, he thinks, they'll be fine for blowing soap bubbles.

Thus this staunch resident of Missouri spreads joy in his path.

And while we're on the subject of corn cobs, it is well that we should consider it more extensively in its relation to the fate of the nation.

Two of the House members consider it the only kind of pipe to smoke. They are "Judge" Rucker of Missouri, and "Judge" Witherspoon of Mississippi. Rucker smokes his incessantly in his office, but Witherspoon takes his with him when he goes to the House or to a committee hearing.

When Witherspoon gets into action on his favorite subject, "the little navy," he must have his well-seasoned old Missouri meerschaum in full blast. One day recently he sat in the naval affairs committee room while Admiral Fletcher testified.

"Bet Fletcher thinks he's on the bridge of a ship with a horrible battle raging," commented one member of the committee, as clouds of smoke rolled out of Witherspoon's faithful pipe in the direction of the commander of the Atlantic fleet.

Much has been written on the evanescent quality of fame. But nowhere it is rudely and forcibly brought to mind than in adjoining bookstore a block away from the capitol. There huge volumes of "Bill" Sulzer's speech in congress are placarded.

Sweet chocolate is highly in favor with a considerable group of members of congress. In the cloakrooms, the attendant has established a big supply of this confection, along with packs of chewing gum, for the refreshment of solons, who do not desire to take time for a regular meal in the restaurant below the House floor.

Every noon, a group of dignified representatives may be seen munching on the chocolate like a lot of schoolgirls, and apparently enjoying it just as much.

Then, too, the "quick lunch" section of the cloakroom has established a menu of sandwiches and salads that may be obtained at reasonable prices to stave off famine while a fight is demanding the attention of busy legislators on the floor.

"The hard hand of trade" is being laid upon the faith of the Society of Friends or Quakers. At least, they so claim in a flood of letters that are coming to legislators, the patent committee and the judiciary committee. The Friends ask specifically that soon law be framed to prevent manufacturers of oatmeal, whiskey and other food products using the title of Quaker in their advertising matter.

The Friends insist that such use trades on the reputation for honesty established by their society through years of quiet, square dealing.

They are as near war, as their religion allows them to be. They insist that congress must do something to lift what they call the "hard hand of trade" from their humble faith.

The society is likely to have ardent support from Rep. Palmer and Rep. Butler, both of Pennsylvania Quakers. The House now has a delegation of a half dozen of these advocates of peace.

Strangely enough, Butler, though deploring wars and the things of war is one of the leading members of the minority side of the House naval affairs committee.

"But I care a whole lot more about the men that man our battleships than I do about the ships themselves," he confided to me one day. And it's not surprising for Butler has a son, Smedley Butler who has distinguished himself a number of landing engagements of the marine corps—the last time at Vera Cruz. And though a man of peace Butler is the proudest father over his boy's achievements.

WHITMAN TAKES OATH TOMORROW

(By United Press.) Albany, N. Y., Dec. 31.—Charles Seymour Whitman will tomorrow noon be inaugurated as Republican governor of New York state. He will take the oath of office here in the office of the secretary of state. Chief Justice Willard Bartlett of the Court of Appeals will be the administering official. Governor-elect Whitman will succeed Governor Martin H. Glynn, Democrat. He defeated Gov. Glynn at the November elections.

Following the oath-taking exercises, the inaugural ceremonies proper will be held in the assembly chamber of the capitol. In the legislative hall before a great company of guests, official, military and personal, the new chief executive will deliver his address. In the late afternoon and evening the newly elected executive and Mrs. Whitman will hold a public reception in the executive mansion. They will be assisted in the receiving by the remaining recently chosen state officers and their wives.

Governor-elect Whitman will proceed to the capitol for his inauguration under military escort. He will leave his official residence shortly before noon, bringing up a procession in which his military staff and several state militia companies will take part. General James W. Lester will be the grand marshal of the inaugural parade which promises to be simple but impressive.

The other recently elected state officers will formally take their posts tomorrow. These include: Edward Schoeneck, lieutenant-governor; Francis M. Hugo, secretary of state; Eugene M. Travis, comptroller; James L. Wells, treasurer; Egbert E. Woodbury, attorney-general; Frank M. Williams, state engineer and surveyor. All are Republicans.

Both the executive mansion and the executive offices here are today fully prepared for tomorrow's formal reception of Charles W. Whitman, governor-elect. Gov. Glynn is quite ready to desert officially both places, making way for his successor. Governor and Mrs. Glynn have already opened their town house here in the attractive Washington park neighborhood.

The outgoing governor will resume his editorial activities on his local newspaper. He will first, it is probable, take several weeks' rest. As chief executive he took no real vacations.

CONGRESS PUT IN BUSY YEAR

One of Busiest Legislative Years in

(By United Press.)
Washington, Dec. 31.—One of the busiest legislative years in the history of American Congressmen ended
today with the recess of Congress over New Year's Day. Except for a six weeks adjournment, the national legislators were in continuous session from January 12, 1914 until today. This statement would not be fair, if allowed to stand, however,
without the further comment that prior to January 12, Congress had been in session continuously since the incoming of the Wilson administration, March 4, 1913.

Perhaps the most important piece of legislation enacted during the year was the law provided for the new banking and currency system.
Creating from 8 to 12 regional reserve banks, (later fixed at 12) under the direction of a Federal Reserve Board, and providing for the reserves of all the national, and many of what had previously been state banks, to be kept with the Federal banks, instead of with correspondent banks in central reserve
cities, as previously, this was probably the most radical reform in the currency system of the country ever put into effect. The provision for the discounting of commercial paper by the member banks, and the issuance of new currency to cover this discounting by the reserve banks, provided what was thought to be a strong preventive of panics, and provided also a sure remedy against temporary stringencies in the amount of actual currency on hand, especially at such times as when the corps
are moved.

Another act of the year, that provided for the construction of a railroad in Alaska at a cost of $35,000,- 000, and its operation after completion by the government, was tremendously important from two different viewpoints. It provided for the opening up for use by the people, of what President Wilson is fond of calling that storehouse of riches. Incidentally, it is regarded by some as a long step toward government ownership of all of the railroads. Certainly, as it is operated year by year,
it will form at least the basis of a comparison with the privately owned railroads in the United States.

One of the bitterest fights of the year was over the repeal of the tolls exemption clause for American owned coastwise ships passing through the Panama Canal. The passage of this act means that every coastwise
ship passing through the big ditch
will have to pay its way, just as though it were an American ship in the foreign trade, or for that matter
a foreign owned ship.

Two important measures of the so-called Anti-Trust program were enacted during the year. One of these created the Federal Trade Commission, which will exercise much the same sort of power over industrial corporations as is exercised over the railroads by the Interstate Commerce Commission, thus bringing both sorts of companies under Federal control.

A number of important bills were passed by the House which were not enacted because of the failure of the senate to pass them. These include the immigration bill, including the famous literacy test, which would restrict immigration; and modify the rules regarding it to meet the opinion of a number of authorities on immigration. Two of the most important of the conservation bills, that providing for the leasing of water power sites now withheld from entry and the general dam bill, were also passed by the House but not by the Senate
during the year, while one bill,
the La Follette Seamen's bill, passed both houses, (the Senate prior to this year however) but in such different forms that no agreement was reached during the year between the two houses.

Congress passed a resolution justifying the President's action in ordering an invasion of Mexico at Vera Cruz following the insult to the American flag at Tampico by soldiers directly responsible to Huerta, at that time dictator of Mexico.

Twenty-six peace treaties, most of them the breathing spell variety,
providing for one year to interpose
after any overt act before any hostilities should occur, were ratified by the Senate. The upper house also received more than 5,000 nominations from the President, and ratified most of them.

There were bitter fights over many of them, incidentally, especially, Paul M. Warburg and Thomas D. Jones, for the Federal Reserve Board, the first of whom was confirmed and the second withdrawn; Attorney General McReynolds, to be Justice of the Supreme Court, John Skelton Williams, to be comptroller of the currency, Interstate Commerce Commissioner Daniels, and Henry M. Pindell, to be Ambassador to Russia.
Some of the most important pieces of legislation of the year were those resulting from the European war, the war emergency bills.

One of these put the government
into the insurance business, that providing that the government should write war risk insurance when private corporations would not underwrite business at reasonable terms.
This has proved a great boon to shipping since war outbreak. Congress made two distinct appropriations to bring stranded American citizens home from war stricken Europe.

Another emergency war measure
was that sweeping aside the tariff duties and other restrictions which had hitherto prevented the placing of foreign built ships under the American flag. The same measure also lodged with the President discretion to waive the restrictions regarding all the officers of such ships being American citizens, thus laying the foundation during the war for an American merchant marine, which would carry American products abroad regardless of the war conditions.

Congress also so amended the Aldrich Vreeland emergency currency
act, during the early days of the war,
but before the Federal Reserve banking system had gotten into operation,
as to make that workable, and it was availed of for the first time since its passage, years before. The Senate passed a cotton warehousing bill,
during the early days of the war,
providing for government inspection
and supervision of the warehouses,
but this was lost in the House. A tremendous fight to have the government buy cotton from the Southern planters at 10 cents a pound was defeated and the bill voted down.

Another result of the war, and for its cutting down of imports from foreign countries, with accompanying reduction in the tariff duties, was the war tax bill. This measure, providing for the raising of more than $90,000,000 annually by internal taxation, was put through both Houses on a most bitter fight, virtually all the Republicans voting against it. Supplementing the Alaska Railroad bill, passed early in the year, another measure, passed late in the fall, provided for the leasing of government coal lands in that territory, and also for the government mining some of them itself, another instance of government ownership

which pleased the Socialists.

aforesaid, and recommend his discharge.

The report was signed by all the members of the grand jury as follows: John W. Collee, Frank G. Regge, Roscoe Tittsworth, William A. Hardy,
John E. Harrison and Alden Johnson.

In the regular report to the court
the grand jury asked to be discharged. Judge Megee discharged the grand jury conditionally. They are not to report again unless an emergency arises, as this grand jury is subject to call until another jury is drawn which will be done the Monday before the opening of the February term of court.

In the report to the court the grand jury stated that the county buildings and institutions had not been examined because of the fact that it has been only a short time ago that a grand jury did this. The grand jury complimented Joe Dickman, custodian of the court house,
for the building's appearance and also praised the placing of storm doors at all the entrances. The grand jury suggested that these storm doors be continued every winter. Prosecutor Smith was also thanked by the jury for his treatment
during their sessions. The grand jury was in session a total of three days, and was called principally for the investigation of the Clevenger case.

John A. Tittsworth will entertain the members of the Rushville bar at his home, corner of Main and Ninth streets, with a dinner next Wednesday evening. The occasion will be in honor of Judge John D. Megee and Prosecutor Donald Smith, the retiring officers of the court, and Judge Will M. Sparks and Prosecutor Albert Stevens, who will take office tomorrow.

"I find that instead of getting colder hearted during these years I have reached out towards the down and out class and the intemperate men who have found their way into this court," he said. "There haven't been more than two or three of the hundred or more murders I have prosecuted who would not have led useful lives had they escaped the few hasty moments during which the crimes were committed. They were all good at heart, but were over hasty."

Baker spoke of the Knabe case. "It was a murder, I fully believe, but was the most mysterious murder in the history of the state. I am sorry it was not my good fortune to aid to clear it up."

Mrs. Walter M. Pearce, corner of Eleventh and Main streets, achieved a feat yesterday that was very unusual. She and Mr. Pearce drove to Indianapolis and back into their new six-cylinder Franklin limousine. Mrs. Pearce was at the wheel both going and coming home and she steered the car through the worst kind of roads without an accident. Mr. and Mrs. Pearce would not have attempted it had they known the bad condition of the roads, but once they started they decided to stay with it.
